Khrushchev's Proposal

Cautious Course For Soviet Seen In Summit Offer

MOSCOW (AP)—Some Western diplomats saw Premier Khrushchev's proposal for a summit conference today as evidence he is guiding the Soviet Union on a cautious course in the Cuban crisis.

They expressed a belief that his suggestion indicates he wants to avert a head-on collision with the United States.

In a message Wednesday to Lord Bertrand Russell, the British philosopher, Khrushchev put the summit proposal this way:

"The question of war and peace is so vital that we should consider useful a top-level meeting in order to discuss all problems which have arisen, to do everything possible to remove the danger of unleashing a thermonuclear war."

While denouncing the U.S. blockade of arms shipments to Cuba as "piratical," Khrushchev ignored the reason President Kennedy announced for the Cuban quarantine—the establishment of Soviet-built missile bases in Cuba.

Moscow insists all arms sent to Cuba are defensive. And it never has admitted missiles are among the weapons. But perhaps significantly, a Soviet Embassy official in London said no nuclear warheads were among arms sent to Cuba.

Russell, in a message, urged the Soviet leader "not to be provoked by the unjustifiable action of the U.S. in Cuba."

Summit 'Feeler'

Mr. K Bid Eases European Fears

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev's summit feeler eased today European fears that the Soviet Union and the United States might go to war over Cuba.

Demonstrations protesting the U.S. blockade of arms shipments to Cuba still flared around the globe. Some neutralist nations lined up in opposition to Washington's action.

America's allies in Europe rallied behind the United States. So did those in Latin America, and a number offered military aid to help enforce the blockade of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

A Soviet Embassy official in London asserted arms supplied to Cuba by Moscow are not fitted with nuclear warheads.

Khrushchev's suggestion that "a meeting at the highest level would be useful to discuss all questions that have arisen and to eliminate the threat of nuclear war" was contained in a message to Lord Bertrand Russell. The British philosopher who campaigns for nuclear disarmament had sent appeals to both Khrushchev and President Kennedy.

Diplomats in London conceded this was an odd way to propose such a vital conference. Said one: "But the Russians do things like that."

There has been little official response so far to Khrushchev's summit feeler.

The West German government representative in West Berlin, Felix Von Eckardt, said he feels world peace will be in acute danger only if the Soviets walk out of the U.N. Security Council.

Demonstrations, most of them anti-American, continued on both sides of the iron curtain.

In London, 500 demonstrators trying to march on the U.S. Embassy fought with police. There was a rash of marches and petitions throughout Britain.

Demonstrations against the United States were reported from Communist Hungary and Poland.

Pro-Castro demonstrators also marched in Milan, Italy. In Rome pro-American youths fought with leftist union demonstrators. Demonstrators for and against Castro clashed outside the U.S. Embassy in Oslo. Danes yelling against the blockade fought police in front of the U.S. Embassy in Copenhagen.

Police broke up a rally called to denounce the United States at Recife, in northeast Brazil.

Not all demonstrations were anti-American. About 200 women marched on the foreign office in Rio de Janeiro and demanded Brazil take stronger action against Cuba. More than 2,000 university students shouting supported by the unjustifiable action of the U.S. in Cuba." The Briton also sent Kennedy a message condemning the blockade and calling on him to "end this madness." Kennedy has not replied.

In London, Russell seized on Khrushchev's summit suggestion and sent him a second message urging him to "hold back ships in Cuban waters long enough to secure American agreement to your proposal."

Then the 90-year-old philosopher, who in recent years has been campaigning to abolish nuclear weapons, sent another message to Kennedy. He urged the President to make a conciliatory response to Khrushchev.

There was no indication from Washington, however, that the President is in a hurry to meet Khrushchev. One Washington source said no conclusion should be drawn from the premier's words until it is known how Soviet ships meet the U.S. naval blockade.

Khrushchev's message to Russell contained no hint that he will submit to the U.S. blockade.

However, the premier told Russell the Soviet Union will make no reckless decisions and will not "be provoked by unwarranted actions of the United States."

Khrushchev coupled this with talk of nuclear war and a call for the United States to lift the Cuban quarantine.

Save Peace, Pope Appeals To Leaders

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, showing deep concern over the Cuban crisis, appealed urgently to the world's rulers today to do everything in their power to save peace.

The 80-year-old pontiff made the plea in a surprise broadcast beamed around the world by the Vatican radio. He apparently decided on the plea only a few hours before the broadcast started.

The Pope spoke for 2 1/2 minutes, supplicating the world leaders to do all they can for peace.

"By so doing they will spare the world the horrors of a war that could have disastrous consequences such as nobody can foresee," he said.

The Pope concluded his brief radio appeal by asking all Christians to "join their prayers to ours in order to obtain from heaven the gift of peace."

City Policeman Chosen

L. Kent Garvey Named As County Deputy Sheriff

L. Kent Garvey, city police officer for four years, has been appointed a Columbiana County deputy sheriff, effective Nov. 1, by Sheriff Russell VanFossan.

Garvey, 29, of 409 Grant St., a native of East Liverpool, will become a field deputy, filling a post left vacant with the promotion of Deputy Robert Beresford to chief deputy in September. He succeeded James Miller, who became probation officer for Juvenile Court.

Garvey was originally appointed to the police department in June 1958 and worked with the Special Services Bureau, an investigative detachment set up under former Mayor Fred Lawrence.

He was laid off in January 1959 with several other officers in an economy move after defeat of the first city income tax at the polls.

Navy Keeps Tight Arms Quarantine

Indications Hint Soviets Might By 'Giving Ground'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Navy maintained an apparently airtight arms blockade of Cuba today amid indications the Soviets could be giving ground, at least temporarily, by diverting some of their Cuba-bound 25 cargo ships.

The Defense Department—which had promised announcement of any intercept as promptly as possible—was silent on this as the blockade neared the end of its first full day.

A Pentagon spokesman said late Wednesday that no intercept has yet been necessary.

He said some of the Communist bloc vessels which had been steaming toward Cuba appear to have altered course. Other Soviet bloc ships are proceeding toward Cuba, he said.

The phrasing that no intercept had been necessary gave rise to speculation that the United States has drawn a blockade line.

Pentagon officials refused to say whether such a line exists or to indicate how far into the Atlantic the U.S. fleet of cruisers, destroyers, carriers and submarines is ranging.

Word that some of the oncoming Soviet ships had changed course prompted a feeling that perhaps munitions-laden vessels were turning away while others bearing food or other nonprohibited cargo might be steaming on toward Cuba.

Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., one of several congressional leaders briefed on the situation at the White House, said it was his understanding that the ships were not turning back toward their home ports, but rendezvousing in the same general area.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, told a news conference the Soviet ships are being watched by U.S. aircraft but he refused to say whether any Navy warships had Communist vessels in sight.

The United States took formal steps to flush any unidentified submarines that might be detected in the blockade area.

Through the State Department, it notified other governments that American forces contacting an unidentified submarine will drop four or five "harmless explosive sound signals."

Along with these signals, the Navy craft may send out an international code signal meaning "Rise to the surface."

If a submarine did not rise as ordered, it probably would be depth-charged.

Red Chinese Capture Vital Indian Town

Tawang Falls After Bitter Fighting. Report Discloses

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Chinese Communists have captured the important northeast Indian town of Tawang, a Defense Ministry spokesman announced today.

Tawang lies on the old India-Tibet trade route between the Tibetan and Bhutan borders about 60 miles north northwest of Udalguri.

The spokesman announced that Tawang fell after bitter fighting Wednesday. Chinese Communist troops are advancing in most areas, he added.

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon was coming under mounting fire because of the ineffectiveness of India's resistance on the frontier. Prime Minister Nehru was reported to be defending him.

Leading newspapers joined senior members of the Congress Party in the attacks on Nehru's closest associate. Some Congress members demanded Menon's resignation.

"It looks as if someone is spreading a ceremonial red carpet for the advancing Red Chinese along the entire northeast frontier," said one party leader who with 29 others criticized Menon severely in a meeting with Nehru Tuesday.

The government meanwhile admitted steady Chinese advances all along the northeast boundary.

Final Inspection Due On Freeway Tuesday

State and federal officials are scheduled to make a final inspection Tuesday on the new California Hollow-West End Freeway, an indication the four-lane limited access highway will be opened to traffic shortly afterward if it meets approval.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said the inspection has been scheduled by representatives of the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, which aided in the financing.

The freeway was dedicated Oct. 17, but the opening was delayed because one of the contractors advised the Highway Department a few last-minute details remained to be completed. Owen said city officials will confer with Highway Department representatives on any work the municipality must perform before the road is opened.

Man Robbed, Auto Stolen

Hancock County authorities today are searching for a man who robbed another at Waterford Park early today, locked him into a room and then fled in his 1962 sedan.

Clifford Brafford of Hamilton, who is residing with his wife and son at a motel near Chester, notified Chester Patrolman Frank Fetty this morning of the robbery and car theft.

Brafford and his son, Gary F. Brafford, went to the track about 11 p. m. Wednesday to remain all night.

The suspect, believed to be an employee of the track, apparently lured the youth into the tack room where he took his wallet containing $10 and then locked him into the equipment room, the elder Brafford said.

The man then fled in Brafford's 1962 white two-door Ford sedan with Ohio license 1203 MR, Brafford told the Chester officer.

Fetty relayed the information to Hancock County sheriff's office.

Fund Drive For Mental Health Clinic Set Nov. 4

One out of every 10 persons in East Liverpool will need some degree of trained assistance for an emotional or mental problem within the next 12 months.

Whether that problem will render their lives unhappy or require hospitalization or whether they will receive assistance at a planned Columbiana County mental clinic depends on a month-long drive for $22,000 due to start Nov. 4.

THIS CAMPAIGN for funds—which would be matched by state aid on a two-for-one ratio — is being undertaken as the county's answer to a growing need to treat people of all ages caught up in emotional and mental stress.

Chairmen and solicitors for the fund drive will receive campaign kits at a kickoff dinner Monday night at 6:30 at the Hotel Wick-

Latin States Backing U.S. On Blockade

Hemisphere Unity Indicated In Bid To Halt Cuba Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least half the Latin-American nations have backed their votes for an arms blockade of Cuba with offers of men, ships or port facilities.

Pleased U.S. officials welcomed the bid to join in the blockade not so much for its military significance but as a signal to the world that the hemisphere is united in its opposition to the pyramiding of atom bases in Cuba.

The voluntary gestures follow swiftly in the wake of Tuesday's vote by the Organization of American States to use force, if necessary, to prevent the Cuban Communist arms buildup. Wednesday, Uruguay, the only nation which abstained from the 19-0 vote, made the action unanimous.

A special meeting of Uruguay's nine-member government council, meeting in Montevideo, expressed approval of the OAS resolution. The nation's delegate had abstained because communication difficulties prevented his getting instructions from home.

The selective blockade is the strongest action against a Latin-American nation ever approved by the OAS.

Brush-Moore Buys Weirton Daily Times

Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., has purchased the Weirton (W.Va.) Daily Times from the Ogden newspaper group of Wheeling, it was announced today by G. Gordon Strong, Brush-Moore president and general manager.

Transfer of ownership becomes effective today.

The Daily Times, which was founded in 1927, is published daily except Sunday and has a circulation of 7,000.

Mr. Strong said no change in personnel or policy is contemplated.

Clarence J. Denne will continue as general manager and Earle V. Wittmann as editor.

Acquisition of the Daily Times brings to 10 the number of papers owned and operated by Brush-Moore. The others are: The East Liverpool Review, Canton Repository, Steubenville Herald-Star, Salem News, Marion Star and Portsmouth Times in Ohio; the Salisbury Times in Maryland; the Hanover Evening Sun in Pennsylvania, and the San Gabriel Valley Daily Tribune in California.

President's Door Open For Parley

Would Confer With Khrushchev Under Right Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The apparent diversion of some Soviet supply ships stalled off a U.S.-Soviet showdown on the blockade front of the Cuban crisis today and allowed time for anxious diplomats to seek a peaceful way out of the war-threatening emergency.

President Kennedy was reported holding the door open for a

U.S. Halts Tanker, Congressman Says

NEW YORK (AP)—A congressman said today a regional briefing session by the State Department was told that a Russian tanker bound for Cuba had been intercepted but allowed to proceed earlier today.

This report came from Rep. James Van Zandt, R-Pa., upon his emergence from a conference called by the State Department for members of Congress from 11 northeastern states and governors of the area.

crisis conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev if the right conditions develop.

But U.S. officials stressed that while sticking to his readiness for U.S.-Soviet negotiations, Kennedy's main concern and overriding objective is to put an end to Soviet nuclear missile bases in Cuba.

The President was said to have given most careful consideration to the proposal made Wednesday night by Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to freeze the crisis for two weeks so that negotiations can proceed. The White House announced the President was replying immediately.

A reply to a new note from Khrushchev was said in official quarters to be less urgent. The Soviet premier in a message to British philosopher Bertrand Russell declared Wednesday that he considered a summit meeting useful in order to do everything possible to remove the danger of nuclear war.

But in a letter to Kennedy about the same time, officials here said, Khrushchev made no direct bid for a conference and concentrated his remarks on denouncing Kennedy's action Monday night in ordering a quarantine of Cuba.

Mental Health Clinic Drive Begins Nov. 4

in time to permit them to readjust.

JUDGE LOUIS Tobin, chairman of the drive and who has handled thousands of cases involving adults and young people in Juvenile Court, declares:

"From my personal experience, I know that 50 per cent of the people we have sent to Woodside Receiving Hospital would not have had to go if they had received treatment at a local clinic as in other counties."

Many cases of mental illness go on so long without treatment, often because of the victim's or the family's imagined belief of a stigma attached, that by the time aid is sought, it is simply too late. Other obstacles to psychiatric care are the lack of available members of the profession—the closest are in the Youngstown or Pittsburgh areas — and the expense, sometimes as high as $50 or more for a half - hour visitation.

The proposed clinic would make available to families in the county a psychiatrist, a psychologist and one or two case workers in addition to office help, according to present plans.

THERE WOULD be only a small minimum charge for those who decide to pay; anyone unable to offer money would not have to, Judge Tobin said. "We do not plan to operate the clinic from fees."

It is estimated between 200 and 300 would utilize the clinic during the first year, with the number growing later on.

The first step is to obtain the basic funds from the county, and then to apply for the available state money which would provide a total of as much as $66,000 for the initial year's operation.

Judge Tobin said the next step would be to organize a governing body. He said it is planned at present to model the clinic after that in Stark County where a Board of Directors is in charge. State law also permits appointment of a commission to run such clinics, but this is rarely done.

THOSE ON the Board of Directors would include representatives of Community Fund agencies and as many as six others elected.

The clinic would be located at Lisbon, because the county seat is centrally situated, and would have a full-time psychiatrist and a full-time psychologist.

State officials have already indicated they will assist in obtaining the professional personnel. The clinic would handle cases on an out-patient basis; no one would be hospitalized at Lisbon where the quarters to be rented would have only offices.

Judge Tobin said it is hoped that eventually hospitals in the county may make facilities available for mental patients. Salem City Hospital has an area designated as a psychiatric ward which is not being used for that purpose because of lack of personnel.

PEOPLE OF ALL ages would be treated. At present, only those in the county under 18 have any kind of aid offered for emotional problems — this through the East Liverpool Child Counseling Center which has been operating with increasing success for the past eight years.

The chief value of the planned clinic would lie in the treatment of those under mental or emotional strain before their cases became serious enough to warrant hospitalization or court action.

The clinic would also help to cut down divorce actions and domestic conflicts, juvenile offenses and criminal problems related to maladjustments.

The Child Counseling Center's operations would not be duplicating to much degree the clinic's area, because the center provides the services of a psychologist for not only the East Liverpool but for areas in Hancock and Beaver Counties.

ONLY COLUMBIANA County residents would qualify for aid at the clinic, which would have a psychiatrist and a psychologist. What about financing the clinic next year? Judge Tobin said money would again come from public subscription or the clinic may possibly be integrated with the Community Funds in the county. "If the public so desires," he added, "a county levy might be authorized."

Meanwhile, workers are continuing plans for the intensive drive—already $400 has been contributed by individuals—hoping county residents will realize both the need and the potential in the clinic.

Mental illness can occur in any family. Over half of those in hospital beds throughout the nation are mental cases.

Surveys indicate a city the size of East Liverpool could completely utilize its own full-time clinic.

A HOUSE -to-house drive is being planned for East Liverpool. Miss Luella Thompson, city chairman, said, and a canvass is also scheduled in Wellsville, according to William Shoub, chairman there.

"A contribution of 50 cents of a dollar is not much to pay for a clinic which may spell the difference between a happy and adjusted life of someone in your family or a friend and the costly and tragic start down the path to serious mental illness, hospitalization or worse," sponsors said.

Police Asked To Seek 2 Missing Youths, 14

East Liverpool police were asked Wednesday night to seek two 14-year-old boys who disappeared yesterday about 8 a. m.

The disappearance of Charles J. Mercer, 234 W. Church Alley, was reported by his mother, Mrs. Mary Mercer. He is 4 feet 11, weighs 98 and has brown hair and blue eyes, she said. He was wearing a gray jacket, blue overalls, a blue and white shirt and black shoes.

The missing persons report on John K. Brown, 709 E. 4th St., was filed by his sister, Edna Brown. He is 5 feet 4½, weighs 110 and has black hair and dark brown eyes, she said. He was wearing a green jacket and black trousers. Both reports were filed at 10:30 p. m.

Corak Puts Up Bond In Election Violation

Eli Corak, Midland mayor and Beaver County Democratic chairman, posted a $500 bond Tuesday night and waived a hearing on a charge of violating election laws.

The charge was filed by William Kovolenko, an independent candidate for assemblyman from the 2nd District, who alleges that an election pamphlet was not signed, contrary to the election laws.

Corak said the lack of a signature was due to a printer's mistake.

In waiving hearing, Corak allowed the case to go directly to Beaver County Court. The Grand Jury will meet the last week in November.

Brakes Fail, Auto Crashes

Brake failure was blamed for a crash late Wednesday afternoon in which a Klondyke youth's auto hit a halted car and a metal post at the Broadway railroad crossing, police said.

William R. Simms, 16, of 2124 Ohio Ave., told police he was heading west on the River Rd. and preparing to turn onto the crossing when the car's brakes failed. He said he then steered the 1955 sedan to the right of a halted 1959 station wagon operated by Alwyn E. Eardley, 40, of 141 College St.

Simms' sedan hit the right rear of Eardley's car and bent a metal post on the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. right-of-way, police said. The right front of the Simms car was damaged. The crash was timed at 5:26.

Four autos were damaged in two identical rear-end collisions Wednesday afternoon on Pennsylvania Ave., officers reported.

The first, at 3:22 near Sylvan St., involved a 1956 two-door sedan driven by Charles E. Brown, 25, of Salineville R. D. 1 and a 1958 four-door sedan operated by Wade Vance, 62, of 623 Jackson St., officers said.

Vance told police he was halted for a traffic signal when his car was hit from the rear. Brown said he was talking with a passenger "and just couldn't get stopped in time," police said.

The other rear-end crash, at 5:28 at Boyce St., involved a 1955 sedan driven by Tom B. Bell, 34, of 1230 Chaffin St. and a 1959 sedan operated by Johnston Stingley, 58, of 717 Dewey Ave., officers said.

Stingley said he was halted for a traffic signal when his car was hit from the rear. Bell said he also was halted, but started too quickly when the signal changed and hit the rear of Stingley's car.

Hancock's New Roadside Park To Be Dedicated

The Hancock County department of the State Road Commission will open a new roadside park Friday at 2 p. m. Rep. Cleveland Bailey of West Virginia's 1st Congressional District will give a dedication address.

The park is on Route 66 across from the Stratton Dam. The land was leased from the Crescent Brick Co.

Maurice Mendel, West Virginia state supervisor of roadside development, will be present, along with officials from Charleston and Moundsville.

The public is invited to attend and inspect the facilities.

The park was developed by the State Road Commission's force at Pughtown, headed by Julian Wilson.

James A. Rhodes For Governor

The people of Ohio are indeed fortunate to have two such highly qualified candidates for governor.

Whatever the result on Nov. 6, the administration leadership in the Statehouse will be strong.

If, however, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle wins re-election for a second four-year term, we seriously doubt that his leadership can be effective.

On the other hand, if James A. Rhodes is elected to his first term, we feel strongly that his leadership will be effective, and for this reason and others equally compelling, we recommend the election of Mr. Rhodes as governor of Ohio.

The next four years will be extremely important ones for Ohio. The state's needs and problems are growing at a staggering rate, and unless something can be done to keep abreast of them, Ohio's economic posture in the family of states surely will suffer a cruel blow.

GOV. DISALLE has recognized these needs and has been quite articulate in expressing them, but he hasn't been able to enlist the support to meet them on his terms.

He has spent most of the last two years wrangling with the Republican legislature. Hardly a day of the campaign passes that he doesn't tear into the legislators for what he describes as their failure to cooperate with him, and for their unwillingness to appropriate sufficient funds to finance the programs he has espoused.

This strange strategy has left Ohio in dead center. It has demonstrated something that has long been axiomatic in politics — that without at least a small measure of harmony between the executive and legislative branches of government, very little can be accomplished.

THIS IS WHERE Mr. Rhodes comes strongly into the picture.

We are confident that Ohio again will elect a Republican General Assembly — surely a Republican House — and with a Republican governor to complement the political complexion of the legislature, the state again can move ahead, tackle its problems in a spirit of cooperation and restore a climate for progress.

This Time The Gun's Loaded

In another time of national crisis 22 years ago, Wendell L. Willkie warned President Franklin D. Roosevelt about the danger of "making gestures with an empty gun."

On Dec. 7, 1941, the danger was demonstrated. Pearl Harbor and the collapse of the Philippines revealed how inadequately the United States was prepared to back up its policy.

This inadequacy, known to both the Germans and the Japanese, invited attack. The same inadequacy had tempted Germany to try to drive the United States off the seas in World War I.

This time the gun is loaded.

If Soviet Premier Khrushchev now is showing an inclination to seek a negotiated settlement of the tension over Russia's military buildup in Cuba, it is because he knows the gun is loaded.

THIS IS THE first time in the history of the United States that a potential aggressor against its security can find no room for illusions about the consequences of a shooting war.

It is the first time the United States cannot be compared with the intended victim of an armed bandit who knows what he intends to do and how to do it. This time, for a change, the United States is equally armed and equally purposeful.

Purely Personal

I resent the insinuation I was with Teddy Roosevelt on the charge up San Juan Hill when we tangled with Cuba the last time. I tried to enlist but they didn't have suitable duty for a brigadier general who had gone through the chute at Bull Run.

Sure-thing bettors should get their money down early on James R. Hoffa, who again is in the toils of the law. If you had put down $10,000 on this man at suitable odds to walk out of courtrooms under his own steam, you could be almost as well-fixed as he is.

Every so often throughout history, the nations of the world shift the balance of power, like a coal pile tumbling down when too much has been removed from one spot. I think this is about to happen again and am prepared to write off old allies and write on new ones.

What I don't know about the stock market is everything, but I can remember this much: Stock prices never stay down when military activity is stepped up because this is the strongest stimulus known to Wall Street.

The aftermath of that grisly story about the airline stewardess blown out of a plane when the door opened by accident was about

But this is only one of the attributes that Mr. Rhodes can bring to the governor's office. While he has not had Mr. DiSalle's on-the-job training in the state's highest executive office, he does have an impressive record of 19 years of administrative competence — 9 as mayor of Columbus and 10 as state auditor.

The Republican candidate has a demonstrated capacity for surrounding himself with men of high caliber. He knows how to delegate responsibility and he is impatient with incompetence in thought and action.

During the course of the campaign, Mr. Rhodes has unveiled a series of programs designed to thrust Ohio into the forefront in areas of state responsibility he feels have been too long neglected.

AMONG THEM are new jobs and industrial development, a youth commission to deal with juvenile delinquency, golden age villages to house the aged, and education.

We are not prepared to say that all, or any, of these proposals will meet with any degree of success. We doubt that even Mr. Rhodes can be sure that all the goals and objectives he has outlined can be achieved.

But at least he has a blueprint for progress that has won the blessing of Ohio's legislative leaders and will challenge the imagination of all Ohioans who are interested in responsive and responsible government.

By and large, we believe Mr. DiSalle has been a good governor. He is personable, alert and intelligent, and we give our endorsement to his opponent not so much for what the governor has or has not done but for what we firmly believe he cannot do — win the confidence and support of the people with whom he has to work outside his administrative family.

Justly or unjustly, Mr. DiSalle has been branded as a governor who would continue to tax and spend — spend and tax. To be sure, during his first two years in office, with a Democratic Legislature, some $150 million was added to the annual tax burden of Ohioans.

Even the programs he is advancing today and the badgering for appropriations in excess of anticipated revenues that has been his strategy for the last two years would lead inevitably to more new taxes if he were dealing with a legislature responsive to his wishes.

MR. RHODES has refrained from saying he would not ask for new taxes if they were found to be necessary, but every one of his proposals to date was designed with no new tax involvement and his whole philosophy has been one of living within the state's income by reducing expenditures through increased efficiency and economic operation.

On the evidence and the prospects, we endorse Jim Rhodes for governor and urge your support of him at the Nov. 6 election.

It possesses a striking force in being adequate to the responsibility it bears. There are no illusions now about the ability of Britain and France to help out while the United States begins to get ready to commence to start to build up its military power, as was the case in both World War I and World War II.

THE DIFFERENCE is the demonstrated ability of long-range U.S. bombers to carry nuclear bombs to cities in Russia and the presumed capability of U.S. missiles to carry atomic warheads to the same targets.

The same fate would befall cities in the United States. But can anyone doubt that if U.S. retaliation weren't certain the cities in the United States now would be under imminent threat of destruction?

Nuclear potentiality has been the strategy of the post-World War II era. Our military planners and politicians have argued about it and fallen out over it.

If it survives this current test, the strategy will have been successful. The gesture with the loaded gun will have paid off.

The bandits will have thought better of their idea for staging a stickup. The "victim" this time does not invite attack.

By Truman Twill

people on the ground that night who heard an eerie scream they estimated lasted for upward of a minute and didn't know what it was until the body of the victim was found in their neighborhood the next morning.

I never have found any reason to believe political campaigns change votes and am beginning to doubt the claim that they bring out votes. My own reaction is in the other direction; I turn against both candidates in hard-fought campaigns because both become offensive in their desperation.

I love the dear good auto industry. I love its juggernauts that will go 125 miles an hour. I love what the auto industry does for the national economy. But I do not love it when it says to me that people want what the industry wants to sell. Some of the people, dear industry — only some of the people. The rest of us want something we can afford.

It has been years since I've laughed harder than I did at the delightful spoof in Ladies Home Journal about how to tell the difference between Democrats and Republicans. I expect to carry it in my wallet if the lady I read Ladies Home Journal with will take it out of her pocketbook.

Why Wasn't Cuban Stand Taken Sooner?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy is to be commended for doing his duty in the Cuban situation. His announcement of policy was phrased in unpositive terms.

But the big mystery is why the same action wasn't taken sooner, and why for months now the country was led to believe the Monroe Doctrine was out.

David Lawrence noted that the United States couldn't very well act in Cuba without embarrassing itself in Berlin and Western Europe.

At last, however, the similarities have been clarified as between defensive steps taken by the United States and its allies in Europe against potential aggression and defensive steps now being taken against the Soviet Union's conspicuous aggression in the Western Hemisphere.

Abandoning a policy that did not include a single public protest against what the Moscow government was doing, the United States now expresses itself emphatically and tells the world that the Soviets have been lying about their maneuvers inside Cuba.

This is a startling change in the situation and the full disclosure by the President will be welcomed throughout America.

WHY DIDN'T the United States act earlier? It certainly had the principal facts about the Soviet build-up of military weapons inside Cuba. This correspondent set them forth in a dispatch on Aug. 24. Also, members of Congress in their speeches several weeks ago publicly called attention to the Soviet operations in Cuba.

Thus, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said to the Senate on Sept. 10:

"I have reason to believe, on the basis of information from reliable sources, that the situation in Cuba is even more grave than has yet been indicated to the American public."

"The fantastic build-up of Soviet planes and tanks and missiles and advisory personnel that has gone on in Cuba over the last year cannot be dismissed as purely defensive."

"As the distinguished senator from New York (Mr. Kenneth Keating, Republican) pointed out last Wednesday, weapons per se cannot be divided into clearly defined defensive and offensive categories. Most weapons can be used for either purpose. It all depends on who wields the weapons and on the intent of the wielder."

SEN. KEATING in another

speech to the Senate on Aug. 31 had referred extensively to the Soviet build-up in Cuba. Several weeks ago, moreover, letters started pouring into the White House, the Department of Defense and the Department of State telling of the Soviet military operation in Cuba.

This correspondent received on Monday of this week a letter dated Oct. 18 from an aeronautical engineer of wide knowledge and wartime experience who had been pleading with the government here for weeks to analyze realistically the information available on the missile build-up in Cuba. In his letter the engineer said:

"The means for delivery of nuclear weapons are already now in Cuba in the form of more than 100 MIG fighters. Two hundred more fighters are under delivery or planned for delivery. The only difference between a fighter aircraft and a fighter bomber is a bomb rack which, in the case of the two MIG models, can be mounted in a matter of minutes. Both aircrafts can carry nuclear bombs of a size two to three times as big as the Polaris warhead over distances which, scaled from Cuba, would put New York, Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Texas, and therefore most of the heavily populated portion of the United States within their reach.

To the south the Panama Canal in its entire length is also in easy reach of these fighter bombers."

THE ENGINEER also pointed out that a defense against this type of attack is difficult because low-flying aircraft cannot be tracked by long-range radar. He also said that the Golem Intermediate Range Ballistic Missiles are not dependent on land-based launching sites. He added:

"Every deeper bay of the Cuban island is a launching site needing no preparation. Commercial ships can hoist them overboard and launch them. . . . The range of the advanced Golem II covers most of the eastern United States and the Panama Canal."

Why wasn't information of this kind — available at least a month or six weeks ago — acted on sooner? Why, if the facts were clear that Cuba has had potentially dangerous weapons on hand, wasn't Cuba ordered many weeks ago to destroy all such weapons or face a military move that will eliminate the weapons because they are dangerous to the security of the United States?

The President in his Monday night speech said that "The first preliminary hard information" came late Tuesday morning, Oct. 16. A Pentagon spokesman told the press on Monday of this week that not until Monday, Oct. 15, and early Tuesday, Oct. 16, were pictures available, and he added: "That was the first time that we had any reason to believe that there were offensive weapons in Cuba."

MAYBE THERE'S an explanation for a lack of action in the face of what was being printed all over the world — especially in European newspapers — about the nature of the weapons the Soviets had sent to Cuba.

But no satisfactory reasons have been given as yet for the delay in formulating American policy. Certainly much valuable time has been lost in failing to heed the warnings that started as early as July and came out in the open in August and early September.

It's a big mystery why nothing was done sooner to checkmate the Soviet Union's aggressive move of a military nature in this hemisphere.

Americans can only hope that the delay has not been irreparable and that within the next several days the Soviet missile pads in Cuba will be wiped out by force if necessary. That's the plain intention of American policy now as outlined by the President in his television speech.

I'm Getting Fed Up With This Middle East Turmoil

Reuther And Meany Continue To Feud

By VICTOR RIESEL

Volatile and voluble Walter Reuther soon will hit the skyways. The "Redhead" and his brother Victor will fly to Japan in mid-November.

They will leave after what is expected to be a turbulent session of labor's high command beginning on Nov. 12 here.

But Walter Reuther may enplane as an ex-member of this high command. Some weeks ago he asked his own colleagues in the leadership of the auto union to approve his plan to resign from the AFL-CIO high council if he is stymied again in his conflict with AFL-CIO president George Meany. They approved, of course.

Behind this duel between two of the world's most influential men are some basic differences which could have multi-megaton impact on global affairs—and which frequently affect the White House.

One still untold story, starting in West Berlin last July, sharply silhouettes the basic policy disagreement between these influential labor leaders—influential indeed in the very highest echelons of our government.

IN WEST BERLIN, Reuther conferred privately with many leaders of tens of millions of union members. They had come from all continents for the world conference of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

Reuther then told some of his American colleagues he was leaving before the parley's end because of the missile plan negotiations in the United States. He returned home by way of Italy. While there he talked privately with leaders of the Christian and Socialist unions.

Italy's most powerful labor federation is the General Confederation of Italian Labor (CGIL). It is the base of strength of the Communist party and its ally, the left-wing Socialist party. The latter is led by one Pietro Nenni who is now part of the Italian government under Premier Fanfani.

IN RECENT MONTHS, the CGIL unions have been violent. They've hit the bricks with wild strikes, and have hurled bricks at their opponents. They have been pressuring the government — among other things — with demands for the disarming of police. They also want more power in the government.

In turn, the pro-West Fanfani regime has been urging Nenni to break with the Communists. About this he is not at all enthusiastic.

All this is vital to the free world.

If the left-wing Socialist-Communist combination can swing Italy into the neutralist camp, there will be an awfully big hole at the bottom of Europe through which much of NATO power will crash.

Furthermore, across the world the most powerful Japanese unionists, led by the militant socialist, Akira Iwai, are politically enamored of Pietro Nenni. As he goes in Italy, so will they go in Japan. And it is vital to the United States that the Socialist-Communist coalition break up in Japan.

WE NEED to have millions of workers friendly to the United States at this grim moment on both those bastions on two continents.

Shortly after Reuther returned to the United States from Italy he contacted men who are among the nation's top executive and military leaders. The auto union chief, who is also a vice president of the AFL-CIO, asked for a secret meeting of national security people. The meeting was arranged.

In the group was Gen. Maxwell Taylor. Reuther outlined to them his own plan for an attempt to take the Italian labor movement from Communist control. What he urged was American support for a move by the weaker Socialist and Christian unions into the CGIL, controlled by the Communists.

This would mean attempting to take over the five-million-member Italian labor movement from the inside after first merging with it. This in turn would mean that the non-Communist unions would have to give up their own national organizations.

Those at the hush-hush meeting in Washington listened carefully. One of the first to object to the strategy was Maxwell Taylor, now head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The gathering finally rejected Reuther's strategy.

ONE OF THOSE not at the secret conference was the then labor secretary, Arthur Goldberg. He refused to attend because George Meany, the leader of American Labor, had neither been consulted nor invited.

Meany, one of the world's hardest-hitting anti-Communists, of course, would have battled the policy of fighting the Communists from within. The AFL-CIO president is for crushing them with anti-Communist unions from the outside.

That remains the official policy inside labor and inside the White House.

It is such matters of global strategy and labor's influencing of White House policy which are the basis of the feuding between the two leaders of labor. Little else, regardless of what you hear.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I have attended some Wellsview Council meetings and have read the papers regarding the City Hall-Post Office plan and have noted with interest the lengthy remarks of Mr. William Strobe on the subject.

I did some checking and here is what I uncovered about his positions on this proposition.

1.—Councilman Strobe was one of the original movers for architect consultations and was active in attempts to get — and I quote him — "the City Hall-Post Office deal on the road."

2.—Then at the Council meeting of March 13, 1962, he read a prepared statement opposing the City Hall-Post Office plan and gave the reason that he was for an auxiliary water line and that — I quote — "We the undersigned councilmen are planning to take immediate steps to initiate plans for an auxiliary water line project". This at a cost of $300,000 to $600,000 which would be all taxes to our people and no revenue whatsoever.

3.—Then at a later Council meeting he gave his opposing reason to be that he understood the schools were going to ask for $5 mills and that would be more important.

4.—Still later — Tuesday, Oct. 16, 1962, at a Council meeting he stated that taxes for this thing would run Sterling China out of town. According to Mr. Pomeroy this is hogwash. Incidentally Mr. Pomeroy, president of Sterling China, lent every assistance in obtaining, if it was desired, local area financing for this project.

5.—As a climax, at the same Council meeting, Councilman Strobe said and I quote, "I am against anything that will raise taxes."

In view of this inconsistency, what can we think? Immature judgment? Poor memory? I, for one, can have no confidence in you and perhaps the most significant final statement you could make would be—I resign.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:
I listened with interest to President Kennedy's broadcast the evening of Oct. 22.

I have been disappointed at his apparent reluctance to take a firm stand against Communist aggression, especially in Cuba. While I was a soldier and an N.C.O. in the Army, I learned to first know the facts before I started talking. I am glad I did so in this situation.

Sometimes during the war it seemed to some of us that our officers were a group of bungling men who did not know what they were doing and were needlessly sacrificing the men under them to no purpose. As soon as we could get the true picture we realized that the lives that were lost and the decisions that had been made were for a just cause, and were made because there was no other choice.

I am certain that our President, upon sound advice, will make the right choice. Let us get behind him and pray to God to give him the courage to do what he must. He needs our confidence now.

Den Chiefs' Session Set

The annual Columbiana Boy Scout Council den chiefs' conference will be held Saturday afternoon at Lisbon with officials of the Cherokee District providing the chairman and manpower.

The session will be at St. George's Parish Hall, with registration at 1:30 p. m. Plans for the conference were reviewed at a meeting of the Cherokee District training committee Wednesday night at the home of Robert Gray, district executive, of Newell. Ten attended.

The conference is open to all boys in scout troops who are serving or are interested in serving as a den chief to a Cub Pack. The den chief assists the den mother in the teaching at the weekly den meetings.

Each pack that sends boys to the session must also provide an adult supervisor.

Harry Edmonds, cubmaster of Pack 10 of the Newell Jefferson PTA, is the chairman. He announced the assignments last night.

The fee for the course is 75 cents, to help defray the cost of a dinner at 5 p. m.

Reservations are to be made at the council office in Lisbon. An application form was attached to the October issue of the "Inform-er," the council bulletin.

Charge Dropped After Restitution On Check Fraud

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today dismissed an affidavit alleging that Robert Hitchcock, 30, of Anderson Blvd. issued a fraudulent check to the A. & P. Super-market on Walnut St. after the defendant made restitution of $30 to Charles Shriver, the store manager.

Hitchcock pleaded guilty at arraignment this morning, but requested an opportunity to make restitution. Court was recessed to allow his wife to bring the cash.

The charge was filed Oct. 16 by Patrolman Paul E. Carter, alleging that Hitchcock issued the check on Sept. 29, 1961, "with intent to defraud."

The check was drawn on the Union Savings Bank & Trust Co. at Toronto, although Hitchcock knew "he did not have sufficient funds or credit with the bank" to cover the amount of the check, the affidavit alleged. Hitchcock was ordered to pay the court costs.

Feed Corn Available To Hancock Farmers

Corn is being made available to Hancock County livestock farmers handicapped by the shortage of feed grain because of the summer drought.

Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent, said the program is to help the farmers preserve and maintain foundation herds of cattle, including producing dairy cattle, sheep, goats and other livestock.

Any livestock owner who does not have sufficient feed on hand for a 90-day period and who is not financially able to buy feed at regular market prices should be eligible for the feed corn, Johnson said.

Corn is available for foundation herd stock at 75 per cent of the support price, or $1.05 a bushel. Corn for other livestock is $1.34 a bushel. Applications should be presented at the ASC office in New Cumberland.

50 Taken On Tours In County Home Visit

LISBON — Over 50 persons toured the Columbiana County Home Wednesday, according to Supt. Russell Phillips.

Groups who visited the home represented the Lisbon Junior Chamber of Commerce, Wellsville Jaycees, Perry Grange, League of Women Voters of Salem and the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

Commissioners Galen Greeniser and Walter Hunston escorted the groups through the home facilities.

The commissioners have placed a seven-tenths-mill levy on the Nov. 6 ballot for operation, repairs and building a new hospital.

Highway Crews Start Cinder Piles For Snow

Stocking of cinder piles along state highways in Columbiana County began this morning as the Ohio Highway Department crews braced for winter's onslaught.

Crews have already erected about 75 per cent of the 26,000 feet of snow fence in the county, a spokesman at the state garage at Leetonia said this morning.

The state crews have on hand 535 tons of salt and 5,000 tons of cinders for use on the roads, and are awaiting delivery of full winter supplies. The 20 state trucks and other equipment were inspected last week and found in satisfactory condition.

Public Seeks Shelter Plans In New Crisis

The Cuban crisis has brought a new wave of requests to the East Liverpool Civil Defense office for data on fall-out shelter construction, just as was the case a year ago when Russia and the U. S. appeared headed for nuclear war over the issue of Berlin.

Mrs. Edna Sweeney, secretary of the local CD Council, said requests for plans and information on construction of the shelters apparently hit their peak Wednesday as the public reacted to the crisis atmosphere created Monday night by President Kennedy's "quarantine" of Cuba.

Meanwhile, the Columbiana County CD organization also moved its machinery into gear, preparing for any eventuality.

Al Rutecki of Lisbon, county director, said all county organizations have been alerted for duty and former members of CD units have been asked to stand by.

Radiological equipment promised by the state organization is expected to arrive in the county today or Friday, he said. The CD director said he has received instructions on obtaining emergency supplies of food and equipment.

Field hospital equipment in the county headquarters — the old Lincoln School at Lisbon — has been rechecked and found ready for use, he said.

Several evacuation and hospital centers have been designated in the county, Rutecki added.

Only one East Liverpool super-market reported a noticeable increase in the sale of canned meats and foods which could be attributed to the crisis.

The manager of one market reported a customer bought $100 worth of canned goods Tuesday, an indication of emergency stockpiling. But the managers of two other big markets said they noted no "scare" buying.

East Liverpool firemen said they have available 1,000 copies of a booklet on construction of fall-out shelters. The pamphlets may be obtained at Central Station.

When a small amount of heavy cream is added to "finish" a curry sauce, you can substitute undiluted evaporated milk with fine results. The curry powder will mask the flavor of the milk.

ading offensive arms shipments to Cuba became effective at 10 o'clock Washington time Wednesday morning. At that hour a total of 25 Communist ships was reported steaming toward Cuba and an inevitable confrontation with the U.S. warships on blockade station unless some intervening action was taken.

That action came late Wednesday. The Defense Department announced that some Soviet bloc vessels "appeared to have altered course." Officials said that other vessels—understood to be those more distant from Cuba—were still steaming ahead.

Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., one of the congressional leaders attended a White House briefing Wednesday, said Wednesday night the Soviet ships that veered away from the blockade apparently did not turn back. He told the Miami Herald in a telephone call from Washington, "It is my understanding that they were sort of rendezvousing, perhaps waiting for instructions."

The Miami News said Wednesday it had learned reliably that Soviet ships en route to Cuba had turned back.

The Washington Post quoted a reliable government source today as saying six Soviet ships nearest Cuba had altered their course but did not turn back. It quoted the official as saying a Polish ship farther back was continuing toward Cuba.

In other developments related to the crisis: Washington officials reported that half of the Latin-American

Hearings Set For City Men

Two city men are awaiting hearings on charges growing out of an auto accident in Chester which subsequently resulted in an auto theft and a pursuit over Route 66.

George Allen Fetty, 22, of 843 Sophia St. is being held in Chester City Jail in lieu of $134 bonds on charges of driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's permit.

He is to be arraigned Tuesday before Mayor Harry Abrams. Fetty was cited Monday night after his car struck a Hookstown man's auto.

Meanwhile, Charles Ray Richards, 19, of 762 Woodlawn Ave., who apparently was a passenger in Fetty's car, remains in Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland after fleeing from Chester City Hall while being quizzed about the mishap.

Richards allegedly stole a car owned by C. C. Rector of 1st St. He attempted to force pursuing cruisers off Route 66 but finally was captured at a roadblock near New Cumberland.

THEY'RE EXCITING FOR '63!

Four entirely different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center

One of the most exciting things about Chevrolet in '63 is the choice! You've got your pick of not just four different sizes and styles of new cars, but four decidedly different kinds of cars. The new Jet-smooth Chevrolet, for one—the car that makes paying the high price of luxury a thing of the past. Then there's Chevy II, a luxurious live wire, in its own right, yet ever so low priced. Third, you have eight sporty Corvairs, the rear-engine driving wonders with such remarkable traction. And fourth, but far from last, the new Corvette Sting Ray, a whole wide-eyed all-out sports car show in itself. If your kind of transportation isn't here, it must run on hay.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Boredom Stalks The Royal Court

Greer Garson, resplendent in robes of emerald green, stalked the richly appointed living room like Good Queen Bess agonizing over the approach of the Armada. Douglas Fairbanks Jr., every bit as dashing as he was in "The Prisoner of Zenda," but with a pipe clenched in his teeth instead of a dagger, swept a nice little thing named Lois Nettleton into his arms and (the pipe in his pocket now) kissed her.

My heart thumped and perspiration dewed my lip. But a costume designer nearby tossed a match over his shoulder in bland unconcern.

A SOUND technician growled to the stagehand pushing his vehicle that he was too close, too close. The other members of the crew — those not on the cameras or sound booms — lazed in unused chairs, stretched, picked their teeth, scratched their sides, watched the performance on the monitor in undisguised boredom, and yawned.

Yawn at Garson: Yawn at Fairbanks? What are we coming to?

Did the pages and ladies-in-waiting in the courts of Catherine or Charlemagne blink their eyes and gnaw their cheeks to stay awake? I guess they did. Boredom comes to the royal court just as it does to the television studio.

And through the magnetic tube, it pours into our living rooms. After we've watched long enough — 10,000 or a million — there is nothing that Greer Garson or Douglas Fairbanks or Lois Nettleton can do to surprise us.

I SHOULD SAY quickly that there is at least one large surprise in the story they were taping in the big Brooklyn studio the other day. (It's called "The Shadowed Affair," is the work of Michael Dyne, and will be unfolded on "Show of the Week" Sunday night, Nov. 4, on Channel 3 at 10 p.m.)

Fairbanks — and watch him closely — is a rich and internationally celebrated novelist. Miss Garson — and don't trust her for a minute — is his schemingly imperious wife.

Little Miss Nettleton is the magazine writer who is doing a piece on the fellow; beneath the chandeliers and timbered ceilings, she shares his memories, his marital discomforts, and, eventually, his bed.

If this all sounds a little familiar, well, it is — though appearances in "The Shadowed Affair" deceive. You may come away from it feeling the way you used to feel when Charles Boyer purred into Jean Arthur's ear among the falling leaves. You may, that is, if you haven't succumbed to the sleeping sickness that has come to pervade the TV studio and a dozen million living rooms.

OF COURSE, with any thumping heart, I enjoyed an advantage. I saw these people in the round, in the flesh, in the here and now: Miss Garson's lips trembling with the lines she is about to speak as soon as the assistant director weeps an arm across her line of vision; Mr. Fairbanks running at full tilt from the airline terminal set to the library set 30 yards away, dropping his jacket and hat on the studio floor as he runs because Miss Garson already is chatting with him in the next scene; Miss Nettleton rushing from a romantic clinch to a quick costume change, shaking with laughter and telling a bystander, "That yawn! It seems like a COMMENT!" (And the man yells to everyone nearby, "No more yawns, you guys, y'hear?")

His message, I think, is a good one. Let's have no more indifference to the affairs of our quickly disappearing royalty.

Carrigg Backed By Eisenhower

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower today called for the election of John J. Carrigg of Steubenville to the U. S. House of Representatives from the 18th Congressional District to "help preserve the climate in which freedom, liberty and opportunity can flourish."

In a statement released through the Republican Congressional Committee at Washington, Gen. Eisenhower described Carrigg, who is seeking the seat now held by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, as "well qualified by experience and background" to give the people of the 18th District the best possible representation.

"The election on Tuesday, Nov. 6," the former President declared, "will be a crucial one for this country. We must preserve the climate in which freedom, liberty and opportunity can flourish. The best way to do this is by the election of a Republican Congress to head off further erosion of our national heritage and to develop responsible leadership for the difficult decade in which we live."

Addressing himself directly to the people of the 18th District, Gen. Eisenhower said: "You owe it to yourself and your country to vote for John J. Carrigg to represent you in Washington."

WVU Seeks Solution To Beavers' 'B-Boys'

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia, seeking a solution to the threat of Oregon State's "B-boys" — Terry Baker and Vern Burke — worked out on the Beavers' offensive and defensive plays yesterday, in preparation for Saturday's intercollegiate game at Portland. Coach Gene Corum's team will be more nearly complete physically than it has been since the second game of the season, with Virginia Tech. Halfback Jim Moss — out since the VPI game — is working out and will play. Also back in practice were tackle Phil Sizemore and Ron Haggerty and wildcard linebacker John Skinner.

Council Report Rapped

Auditor Asks More Study Of Proposed Wage Hikes

Some of the pay increases recommended for city employees by the Council finance committee are warranted, but others are not, City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate said today in urging a review of the committee's report before final action is taken.

The committee's report "leaves much to be desired; it is controversial now and will remain so until revisions are made," the auditor said.

Council is scheduled to meet in special session Monday night to consider legislation granting the pay hikes, based on a report made by the finance committee Oct. 15. The committee is comprised of Councilmen George E. Willshaw, Robert W. Sample Jr. and Edward Massey.

Applegate declared that the schedule proposed by the committee would provide a higher monthly salary for a City Hall janitor than for the Municipal Court clerk or the auditor.

"Both of these positions are of a highly responsible nature and both officials are held accountable for public funds," Applegate said. "These differences are ridiculous from any point of view."

As an elected official, Applegate is not in line for a pay boost. Only appointive workers and officials — and not all of those — listed in the committee report. State law forbids raising an elective official's salary during a term.

"I agree that pay raises are due in certain departments and for certain individuals, but not all of them that were designated,"

Applegate said. "I feel that the street, fire, police and incinerator departments should have raises, along with the court clerk's staff and some employees of the water department, if the spread is according to rank, ability and efficiency."

"After these raises go into effect, all the city employees who are holding down two or three jobs should relinquish the extra jobs to local residents now unemployed."

Applegate said the proposed pay boosts are based on anticipated revenue, "but the past shows us that we do not always receive what we have anticipated."

For example, in 1961 the city received approximately $46,000 less than in 1960 from state and county sources, he said.

"And it could happen again," the auditor added.

"I always have felt that wage increases should be handled individually, not by blanket procedure," the auditor said. "Each individual in each department should be under close scrutiny, taking into consideration their ability, experience, work attitude and the necessity for the position."

Applegate conceded it is the job of the Council committee to find the funds to cover the proposed expenditures.

"But I am a taxpayer, too, as well as a city official, and I want to be able to pay the bills as they come due and keep our city fiscally sound so we can throw away all the bottles that contain red ink," he said.

Ohio State U. To Proceed Calmly With Work In Crisis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University, during the national crisis, "will proceed calmly and dispassionately with its regular work" but "at the same time it is preparing for any eventualities that might occur."

Those were the words of University President Novice G. Fawcett Wednesday night as he issued a list of precautionary procedures put into effect on the capital city campus.

He listed these steps as under way:

News casts are being monitored on a 24-hour basis so maximum warning will be available in event of possible conflict.

All communications facilities have been assessed, readied and organized to go into action if needed.

A study of campus buildings is being used to mark the locations that can be identified "for the maximum safety available to us at this point in time." Signs will be installed as soon as possible to identify these places.

A survey of personnel on ready reserve is being assembled quickly to enable the university to plan for covering serious gaps in case these people are called into service on an emergency basis.

All safety personnel are being prepared to carry out safety procedures as needed.

Emergency plans in dormitories and in the health services are in a state of readiness for use if required.

Other planning will continue as a means of assuring the greatest measure of safety possible within capabilities.

Fawcett pointed out that the measures are "in no way designed to arouse undue or unwarranted concern."

Sale Of Assets Slated As Drug Store Closes

Rand's Drug Store at 6th and Market Sts. closed its doors Wednesday after the corporation transferred its assets to a Youngstown attorney as assignee to be sold at public auction for the benefit of the creditors.

The corporation is the J. K. Drug Co. Harold Krosney of Chester is the president.

Atty. Louis Gelbman of Youngstown, the assignee, said the corporation's assets were transferred to him. After the assets have been appraised, they will be sold at public auction and the proceeds divided among the creditors on a pro basis. Any taxes that are due will be settled before the distribution to the creditors, he said. Meanwhile, the store will remain closed, the assignee said.

House Blaze Blamed On Electric Blanket

A city family was cleaning up debris today from a fire blamed on an electric blanket which damaged two bedrooms and bathroom of their frame home Wednesday.

Carl McVay, 1012 Waterloo St., said the loss is partially covered by insurance. However, he said no estimate of the loss has been made pending an inspection by an insurance adjuster.

Firemen said the electric blanket on the top bunk bed apparently had been left on high and the heat set fire to the bedding. The fire spread into the other bedroom and bath by the time firemen were called at 10:07 a.m. The rooms were damaged by heat, smoke and water.

High Court Upholds Genoa In Land Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has upheld the village council of Genoa, Ottawa County, in its enactment of an ordinance to buy land for a sewage disposal plant.

In a 5-1 decision Wednesday, the high court reversed an appellate court action allowing Oliver C. Tester and William W. Baird a writ of mandamus. Tester and Baird challenged the council action in repeating an earlier ordinance and enacting another last March 1.

Professor, 30, Newell Class Confesses To Slaying Wife

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio University professor has confessed he beat his pregnant wife to death with a crowbar last Saturday, stuffing her body into an oil drum and dumping it into nearby Dow Lake, Sheriff Harold E. Shields reported today.

The 30-year-old professor of education, Gene Isaac Stees, had been under questioning since his arrest Tuesday afternoon. He was helping authorities search the lake for the body today.

Officers said Prof. Stees led the sheriff and two Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation agents to the northern shore of the lake. Officers quoted him as saying he had loaded the body of his estranged wife, Helen, 30, into a rowboat on the lake Saturday afternoon. The lake is about three miles east of Athens.

The professor was jailed Tuesday after his wife's parents reported her missing from their home in Ashland, where she had been living. They asked local officers for help, and the local officers found the floorboard of Stees' rowboat soaked with human blood.

Sub-Freezing 27 Due With Snow Flurries

The Ohio weatherman has canceled a forecast of light snow for this area but promised more winter-like weather with a possible sub-freezing low tonight and snow flurries and occasional squalls through Friday.

The mercury may dip to a low of 27 to 33 tonight after today's high range of only 43 to 48. The downtown had 35 at 6 a.m.

Light snow had been forecast for Northern Ohio last night but now it is expected in the northwest counties with an intermittent fall.

Road Restriction Set

The State Highway Department said two lanes will be closed to traffic on four-lane Route 7 from the north end of the Ft. Steuben Bridge interchange north to Alikanna next week while resurfacing operations are under way. Two lanes will remain open each day and four lanes at night.

Elephants 'Guests' At GOP Rally

Living symbols of the party paid a surprise visit to an "open house" held by the three Wells-ville Republican clubs Wednesday night at the Hotel Wilk for Columbiana County GOP candidates.

The two elephants are being used by Lt. Gov. John Brown in his campaign. He was speaking last night in Bellaire and sent the animals on ahead. Brown and Don Elliott, candidate for state senator, appeared at the rally later in the evening.

County candidates pictured with the pachyderms are, left to right, Edward C. Greenamyer, for county court judge; James Boyd, for county commissioner; Clarence Wetzel, for state representative; Judge Raymond Buzzard, Common Pleas judge, and T. Emerson Smith, for county auditor.

William Shoub, city chairman, presided. Some 115 attended.

Grand Opera Skit Given

100 Attend Fall Meeting Of Women's Federation

A humorous act of modern grand opera highlighted the fall meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs Wednesday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial and about 100 attended.

Set to the music of "The Barber of Seville," Mrs. Eileen Brown, Mrs. Madalyn Mack and Mrs. Doris McKinnon had the featured singing roles.

The chorus, representatives of the clubs, included Miss Mildred Rose, Mrs. Martha Plotts, Mrs. Pat Burnette, Mrs. Louise Burke, Mrs. Louise Applegate, Mrs. Carol Walton, Miss Phyllis Crook, Miss Meredith Applegate, Mrs. Maxine Sutherland, Mrs. Charlotte Keller, Miss Kay Edwards, Mrs. Betty Finley, Mrs. Barbara Turner and Miss Patty Turner.

Miss Arletta Helfrich, vocal instructor of East Liverpool High School, was director and accompanist. Miss Helen Bibee, program chairman, introduced the program.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, presided and introduced Assistant Fire Chief Dave Anderson, and Thomas Dixon, principal of Westgate School, who spoke on the proposed fire and school levies.

Certificates of 50-year membership were presented eight clubs. Listed with the members who accepted the scroll, they are, New Century Club, 1899, Mrs. T. H. Larkins; Colonial Club, 1905, Mrs. John T. Hall; Monday Literary Club, 1906, Mrs. William J. Horger; Bible Literary Club, 1907, Mrs. Albert Millward; Helen Gould Literary Club, 1909, Mrs. Robert E. Boyce; Sorosis Club, 1910, Mrs. Betty Hist; Travelers Club, 1910, Miss Helen Capehart, and United Mothers Club, 1911, Mrs. Albert Garner.

Mrs. Richard Emmerling read the minutes and Miss Della Ingles, the financial report. Mrs. Bert Dawson and Miss Ingles, in charge of registration, reported the Business and Professional Women's Club had the largest attendance.

Mrs. Dunlop reviewed the business of the recent Executive Board meeting and listed the project for the spring. Named to the nominating committee were Mrs. Richard Sant Jr., Mrs. Richard Crable and Mrs. William Porter.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lawrence Sixt, social chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edward Adkins, Mrs. Robert Wotring, Miss Alberta Abrams, Mrs. Larkins, Mrs. John Reese and Mrs. Charles R. Waggoner.

The buffet table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a gold urn filled with an arrangement of bronze and yellow mums. Mrs. Dunlop and Mrs. Donald E. Wolfe, vice president, poured at the silver tea services. The Garden Club provided arrangements of dahlias to highlight room decorations.

Officers will be elected at the spring meeting.

Midland High's Band Elects New Officers

Dominic DiVecchio, Midland Lincoln High School band director, announced new officers have been elected for the varsity marching band.

They are Pete Vuyakovich, president; Dan D'Angelo, vice president; Elaine Ulizao, secretary; Melva Vranes, treasurer, and Judy Skrenski and Marjorie Atkins, librarians.

DiVecchio said the band is now working on a new half-time show, "Trip to Europe," to be presented at Friday night's game with New Brighton.

The band will also march in the Halloween parade Saturday evening, sponsored by American Legion Post 481.

Lawrenceville Cub Unit To Be Organized

Organization of a new Cub Scout Pack for the Lawrenceville area will be started at a meeting tonight at 8 at the home of Vernon Whittington of Johnsonville.

The unit will be sponsored by the Grandview PTA. Whittington is PTA president. Anyone from the Lawrenceville and Johnsonville area may attend.

The area has a Boy Scout Troop. It is Troop 49, sponsored by the Lawrenceville fire department.

Each candidate spoke about five minutes.

Prior to the rally, a discussion was held with poll workers. A social period was held. Mrs. Mary Clark and Mrs. Betty Rager, co-presidents of the Wellsville Women's Republican Club, were in charge.

The "open house" was sponsored by the women's group, the Wellsville Men's Republican Club and the Wellsville Young Republican Club.

Republic Steel Reorganizes Its Operating Plans

CLEVELAND (AP) — Republic Steel Corp. today announced a major reorganization of its operating structure which divides steel producing operations into three major sectors.

Thomas F. Patton, president, said the move will improve operating efficiency, enable the company to better meet customer requirements and make possible more effective planning.

Named to head the three sectors were Harry L. Allen, vice president—operating staff services and customer relations; Charles W. Cravens, vice president—flat roll operations, and Robert P. Carpenter, vice president—bar, alloy and pipe operations.

Cravens will have direct supervision over the three basic steel plants, which are Republic's most important producers of flat rolled steel—the Cleveland, Warren and Southern districts.

Carpenter will have direct supervision over the Youngstown, Buffalo, Central Alloy (Canton and Massillon) and the Chicago districts.

Allen will be in charge of metallurgical, engineering, quality control and shipping services and will be in charge of order and customer claim functions.

Potent Prowler

GLENDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Patrolman Harold Ehlers was asked to investigate a prowler in the storage room of a Glendale home. Ehlers peeked in the room, quickly slammed the door and advised the owners to call the Humane Society. "It's a skunk," Ehlers explained.

The first printed Bible was produced in 1456, by the famous German printer, Johannes Gutenberg.

Headline Quartets Due In 'Parade' West Virginia Vote Set On Fair Representation

These quartets will headline "Once Upon a Song," the third annual parade of the East Liverpool Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., to be presented Saturday at 8 p. m. at Westgate School.

The women's group is "The Lyrics" of Sterling, Ill., the 1961-62 international "Queens of Harmony." Left to right, they are, Liz Speer, tenor; Lorene Eller, lead; Diane Pauley, baritone, and Sue McCoy, bass.

The men's group is "The South Chords" of Danville, Va. Clockwise, beginning at the top, they are, Charlie Norton, tenor; Warren Bowen, baritone; Walter Clark, lead, and Walter Caldwell, bass.

Also featured will be "The Ringing Belles" of Cleveland and "The North Chords" of Pittsburgh.

The highlight of the program will be the performance of "The Heathertones," second-place international finalists, winning last weekend at the competition at Toronto, Canada. They are members of the local chapter. The Carroll Tones Chorus, newly chartered at Carrollton, will sing several numbers. Glenn Woods will direct the local chorus in a group of selections. Mrs. Lorida Harvey is parade chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ann Claypool.

By HERB LITTLE
(Third of Four Parts)
CHARLESTON (AP) — Should seats in the West Virginia House of Delegates be passed around strictly according to population? Or should every county have at least one delegate all to itself, no matter how small its population?

This is the central issue involved in the Fair Representation Amendment. It will be in fourth position among five proposed amendments to the State Constitution which will be on the Nov. 6 election ballot.

Ratification would make the Constitution conform with the method of House apportionment that actually has been followed for 61 years.

The long-followed guarantee of at least one delegate to a county would be written into the Constitution. The long-ignored requirement for grouping small counties into districts to share delegates would be repealed.

Defeat of the Amendment would leave the constitutional provisions on apportionment as they are.

Presumably some one could then go into court to seek compliance with the delegate district requirement. Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson says that in view of this requirement, the method that the Legislature has been following is unconstitutional.

The present Constitution requires reapportionment of both houses of the Legislature "as soon as possible" after each decennial census. Neither house has yet reapportioned on the basis of the 1960 census.

The proposed amendment would make the time requirement more specific. It would require the 1963 Legislature to make the reapportionment in line with the 1960 census. Thereafter, reapportionment would be required of the next even-year legislative session after each decennial census.

If the Legislature failed to do the job in the regular session, the amendment would require the governor to extend the session for as long as necessary to complete the task.

What makes the Fair Representation Amendment somewhat confusing is that its ratification would confirm the long-followed system, rather than change it. Rejection by the voters would open the way for a change, under the attorney general's opinion that delegate districts are required by the present language.

The Constitution at present says that any county with less than three-fifths of the population base for one delegate shall "be attached to some contiguous county or counties, to form a delegate district."

The population base for a delegate is 18,604 and three-fifths of this is 11,162. Compliance with the requirement would mean putting 13 rural counties with less than 11,162 population into districts to share delegates with other counties.

These 13 counties are Calhoun, Doddridge, Gilmer, Grant, Hardy, Morgan, Pendleton, Pleasants, Pocahontas, Ritchie, Tucker, Tyler and Wirt.

Under the present House apportionment, the population per delegate ranges from 4,391 for Wirt County to 39,615 for Hancock County. Each of these counties has one delegate but Hancock's represents more than nine times the population of the Wirt delegate's constituency.

Approval of the amendment and tionment in line with the 1960 subsequent House reapportionment in line with the 1960 census would mean:

Two more seats for Kanawha County, to a total of 13; one more for Wood, to a total of four; one more for Hancock, to a total of two; a decrease of two delegates for McDowell, leaving it with three, and decreases of one each for Fayette and Logan, leaving them with three each.

No other counties would be changed. Some delegates would still represent five and six times as many constituents as some others.

The St. Lawrence and the Mackenzie are the two principal river systems of Canada.

THE REVIEW

'John's Other Life' To Board Shippingport Ferry Monday

KDKA Radio's John Stewart will devote his "John's Other Life" segment of "Program PM" to his experiences working on the Shippingport ferry next week.

"John's Other Life" is broadcast Monday through Friday at 8:15 p. m.

Stewart presents tape recordings made while working at various vocations.

Bob Christy of Shippingport, co-owner of the ferry, which will be out of business when the Shippingport-Midland bridge construction is completed, will tell Stewart and the radio audience about the long-time ferry operation on Monday.

He will instruct Stewart in the piloting of the diesel boat on Tuesday, and listeners will hear Stewart taking his turn at the wheel Wednesday.

Don Grim of Midland, operator, will put Stewart to work collecting fares from motorists on Thursday's program. On Friday, he will give Stewart an opportunity to pull out the ferry from its landing area.

Stewart has already taped the material.

The broadcasts will acquaint the public with a vanishing part of the American scene—ferry service.

Now entering its third year, "John's Other Life" has found Stewart delving into some five dozen occupations. He has tried his hand at being a policeman, fireman, Pittsburgh Symphony musician, waiter, riverboat crewman, teacher of retarded children, wrestler, advertising agency worker, milkman and many others.

The series received a first place award earlier this year from the Ohio State University Institute for Education by Radio and Television.

Wellsville's Chief Clarifies Police Stand In Hall Dispute

Police Chief John Hephner today denied the Wellsville Police Department has taken an official stand in the community's controversial Post Office-City Hall dispute.

The statement came in reply to a letter being circulated by a group opposed to the project.

The letters were mailed earlier by the Taxpayers' League. The chief said his concern is over a statement which indicates the department is taking a stand in the issue as an official unit.

His statement follows:

"A recent letter sent to the residents of Wellsville from the Taxpayers' League, carrying the names of George Huff, chairman, 1623 Lincoln Ave., and Thomas C. Saltsman, secretary, 1727 Clark Ave., carried certain false and untrue statements.

"If you will check your letter under additional reasons why you should vote against the combination City Hall - Post Office building, Paragraph 3 reads as follows:

"The Police Department and most of the mail carriers have openly expressed themselves as being opposed to the combination Post Office - City Hall building. They should know as they will be the ones who will be working there, as all city offices will be inconveniently located on the second floor."

"I call your attention to the first three words of the paragraph. The Police Department has not and will not take part in this controversy as an official unit. Any member of the department who expresses views on this issue is expressing his own views and not that of the department."

"Any official statement made by this department will carry the signature of myself as your chief of police," Hephner concluded.

The Fraternal Order of Police Lodge recently went on record opposing the issue, but the lodge is made up of members other than police officers in the Wellsville department.

Church Group At Salineville Prepares For Fall Activities

Plans for fall activities were outlined at a meeting of the Altar and Rosary Society Tuesday night at the Parish Hall of the St. Patrick's Catholic Church of Salineville.

Fr. Wallace Kozin discussed projects such as card parties, bazaar and sale of Christmas candy.

Mrs. Michael Maher, vice president, conducted business when arrangements were made to serve a dinner Sunday to the St. Therese Choir of Garfield Heights, which will present a concert at the high school as a church benefit.

Mrs. Stella Jakubowski, Mrs. Emma Whelan and Mrs. Janet Eish received prizes. Mrs. Edna Hertel was in charge of games. Lunch was served by Mrs. Betty Rhodes, Miss Myrtle Strabley, Mrs. Camilla Cozzoli and Miss Marilyn Sweeney.

The group will meet Nov. 27. Mrs. Doris Earl, noble grand, was in charge of business at a meeting of Cable Rebekah Lodge

Tuesday night at the IOOF Hall. The lodge will meet Tuesday night to practice for the annual inspection Nov. 13. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hazel Hart and Mrs. Mable Boyd.

Webb Jarvis and daughter, Charlene, visited at Kilgore Tuesday.

Robert Cole visited at Lisbon Wednesday.

Sgt. and Mrs. John Whalen and daughter visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Polen, Sunday. Sgt. Whalen, stationed for four years in West Germany, is now assigned to a New Jersey base. Mrs. Blanch Mulhearn and family of Cleveland also visited Mr. and Mrs. Polen Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beadnell have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Arol Bash of Findlay.

Mr. and Mrs. Orvel Tolson and daughter have returned from a visit at Clarion, Pa., for the autumn leaf festival.

City Motorist Fined $5 In Illegal Turn Charge

Francis M. Marks, 1012 Railroad St., was fined $5 and costs today when he pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he made an illegal right turn at E. 5th and Washington Sts.

Marks was cited Wednesday at 11:43 a. m. by Patrolmen Orin C. Smith and William A. Devon, police said.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Isabelle V. Mountford, 59, of 139 Beechwood St. has been fined $100 and costs on a charge of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated. She pleaded "no contest."

Mrs. Mountford was cited Saturday night following a minor traffic mishap in East End.

Steinbeck Wins Nobel Award In Literature

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — John Steinbeck won the 1962 Nobel Prize for literature today.

The 60-year-old California-born author, who rose to fame with his novel "The Grapes of Wrath," is the sixth American to win the literary award—this year worth $49,656.

For 30 years, Steinbeck has been turning out best sellers—many became prize-winning stage plays and films—and gained a reputation as a chronicler of social justice in the United States.

His writings in recent years showed a versatility that emerged in his latest book, "Travels with Charley," an oft-whimsical story of U.S. travels with his dog Charley.

Steinbeck, author of 27 books, was cited by the prize committee

"for his at one and the same time realistic and imaginative writings, distinguished as they are by a sympathetic humor and a social perception."

Steinbeck heard about the award at his home in Sag Harbor, N.Y. His wife told reporters it was "a great thrill" for him.

Other American winners of the Nobel Prize for literature were Sinclair Lewis, Eugene O'Neill, Pearl Buck, William Faulkner and Ernest Hemingway.

Gov. DiSalle Invited To Briefing On Cuba

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, as well as his colleagues and congressmen in 13 states, have received telegrams inviting them to a regional briefing in Chicago today on the Cuban situation.

However, people in DiSalle's office said it was not certain if the governor would be able to break away from his re-election campaign to attend the Midwest briefing. Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent the telegrams Wednesday inviting DiSalle and the other governors and congressmen to the session, scheduled for 3:15 p. m. today.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Your column has had numerous letters dealing with mother-in-law problems. This one is about a father-in-law.

My husband's father is refined, educated and devoted to his family. He also has a very high opinion of himself. He enjoys playing the role of counselor and priest.

When a member of the family gets out of line or appears to be having a problem, he writes long letters of advice. Perhaps this is commendable but he doesn't realize that unsolicited advice can be resented.

It wouldn't be so bad if he just sent the advice but he sends carbons of his letters (as well as copies of the replies) to other members of the family.

One of our married sons is having marital difficulties. The carbons and copies are flying thick and fast. Our son and his wife are furious. They didn't ask for his advice and they never intended that their replies be circulated.

We hate to offend the old gentleman but we wish he would stop it. Any suggestions will be appreciated.—E.T.

Dear E.T.: And pray tell, how in the world has your father-in-law been able to get away with this? He must be very rich.

At some point someone ought to say, "Thanks a lot but please don't write me any more of your supreme court opinions." And this should be said on the telephone or in person. Anyone who puts anything in writing to this self-appointed oracle is clearly out of his mind.

Generous Joe

Dear Ann: I dated an extremely attractive and lively young woman for several months. I happen to be the generous type. When I court a young woman I enjoy giving her flowers, gifts and lots of little surprises. You may think I'm a chump but I derive great pleasure from giving.

Last week this young lady told me I am a bore and please get lost. This is perfectly all right with me but I feel it is only fair that she return some of my more valuable gifts. To be specific, I have asked for the hi-fi set, the pearl ring and necklace and the little black sweater with the white fox collar.

The young lady is only 19 years of age and she doesn't know it's a sign of good upbringing to return gifts when the romance is over. I've tried to educate her along these lines but she has told me to go climb a weed.

What can I do about this grasping, immature chiseler?—BADLY BURNED.

Dear Burned: Since you give for the sheer pleasure of giving, you've already reaped your reward — what more do you want?

Gifts presented during courtship belong to the lady. She is under no obligation to return anything except an engagement ring. And then — only if she breaks the engagement.

A Guest's Place

Dear Ann: I'm 23 and engaged to a very fine man. His mother has invited me to spend Thanksgiving in her home. I'm looking forward to it with great pleasure. I am unsure about how much housework I should do when I get there. I know she has a large home but I don't know if she has any servants. Should I offer to help clear the table if there is no maid?

Do I make my own bed? Should I offer to help cook? Please give me some pointers, Ann. I am eager to do the right thing but I don't know what is proper. Thank you. — AVID READER.

Dear Reader: A house guest always picks up after herself and attempts to make her own bed, servants or no.

If there are servants you would not, of course, help clear the table or offer to cook. If there are no servants, ask your future mother-in-law what you can do to help. The most common mistake is to insist on "helping" when the hostess would prefer that you do not.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Reservist Plan Open To Nurses

Sgt. E. P. Vallor, city Army recruiter, said the Army has announced a new Reserve program to permit qualified nurses, both men and women, to take a six-month tour of active duty for training in the Army Nurse Corps, and then return to their civilian occupations while fulfilling the balance of their Reserve commitments.

Men can thus satisfy their military obligation as commissioned officers and both men and women can earn retirement benefits for 20 or more years of service, at age 60, while contributing to local community efforts, as well as that of the military.

The six-month period of active duty for training will give the Army Nurse Corps Reserve officer an opportunity to become familiar with background information on the military aspects of nursing; to learn teaching methods for training enlisted specialists, and to visualize his or her responsibilities in a field medical unit.

Details of the program are available at the local Army Recruiting Station in the Post Office Building or by writing Capt. Audre J. McLoughlin, ANC, Room 205-A, Old Post Office Building, 4th Ave. Smithfield St., Pittsburgh 19.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Good Work Of Officials Needs Noted

A great many children and some adults seem to get the impression that most public officials, local, state and national, are crooks and that politics is hardly honorable. Usually these children and adults hear far more on the air and read more in the newspapers about the alleged wrongs of Dr. Garry Meyers than about the fine and grand service by the many other persons who are appointed or elected to public offices. What a few persons do that is usually considered wrong is more often in the news than what many do that really is praiseworthy.

ANY BEHAVIOR away from what is popularly considered honorable captures the imagination in newspaper headlines and in high spots on radio and TV. News writers and broadcasters suppose that this is what the public wants to read and hear.

But within your memory and mine, the vices of persons whose names are familiar to many of the public are being played up less often and their virtues more frequently.

Yet we can hardly hope to live in a day when the good deeds of many great men and women will have even as much attention as the evil deeds of a few.

In the home with growing children in the family, especially with teenagers there, we often have the opportunity to dwell, in our discussion, on the fine and able services which we know about in our public servants.

RIGHT NOW, WITH Election Day approaching, we hear and read and talk about opposing candidates and issues. How much of our talk in the family is emotional and prejudiced and colored by our political party preference? How much is truly objective and reasonable?

We see a dilemma here. Most of us believe our custom of having at least two political parties has considerable merit. Some very conscientious persons, indeed, believe that sticking to the party, as a rule, can bring the best results. But even some of them, let us hope, are ready to cross party lines and vote for the candidate they feel sure is best.

Certainly our teen-age children who, basically, are idealists, are inclined to expect us parents to stand for the person and the issues we are sure are best, not only now but the year around.

LET US IN THE family express approval and admiration of the public officials whose services and announced ideals we respect, regardless of their political party. Perhaps we can do this best and most often in respect to local public officials.

And let us not betray grief or anger when one of our children expresses preference for a candidate or issue at variance with our view. Let us encourage him to present his opinion clearly and defend it with reason.

It could be possible that our children growing up with us will resolve to enter politics and think of it as an avenue for rich human service and personal development and satisfaction.

Murder Charge Seen Against Youth, 17

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Butler County authorities said they expected the filing of a murder charge today against a 17-year-old Middletown high school youth, held in connection with the fatal bludgeoning of a 13-year-old girl.

William E. Rathman, assistant prosecutor, identified the youth as William Carl Boehm and said Boehm had signed a statement admitting the attack upon Deborah Anne Lafayette after she had spurned his sexual advances last Sunday night.

St. John's Brings 3-2-1 Record Here Friday

ELHS Scored Victory Over Irish In '61

A year ago about this time East Liverpool defeated Bellaire St. John's, 16-6. Friday night Bellaire steamed up the Ohio River with about the same personnel that played here last season.

Apparently the St. John's grid-ders have come of age for they hold a 3-2-1 record and that tie represents a major achievement since the Irish played a good Bellaire Big Red team to a 0-0 standstill.

Here's This Week's District Grid Card

- Tonight
- Wellsville at Jefferson Union
- Wayne at Newell
- Friday
- Bellaire St. John's at East Liverpool
- Midland at New Brighton
- St. Mary's at Chester
- New Cumberland at Mt. Pleasant
- Poland at East Palestine
- Leetonia at Lisbon
- Louisville at Columbiana
- Salem at Boardman
- South Side at Northwestern
- Saturday

- United at Salineville
- Crestview at Western Reserve
- Stanton Local at Brilliant has lost to Wheeling Central, 27-6 but the Wheeling squad is still undefeated. Moundsville was the other conqueror of the Irish by a 7-0 count.

Coach Ralph Anastasio, a former griddier at West Virginia University also hails from Polansbee, the hometown of Potter coach Bob Hedmond. Anastasio plans to start Leslie Munjas, a 150 pounder at quarterback to operate the T formation while his best back Dave Trouton, a 140-pound junior speedster and the team's leading scorer, will start at left half.

ROUNDING out the backfield will be Paul Tecash, a 145-pound senior at the other halfback and a big fullback in 195 pound Mick Foster.

The forward wall will show Jerry Malicia (160) and Tom Baudo at ends. Reports say that Malicia is the No. 1 passing target for Munjas. The tackles are on the large size with John Sidon (220) and John Lagowski (200).

At one guard will be Bob Jolley, a 175-pound senior, who is rated one of the top all around linemen in the Ohio Valley. Jolley was an all Ohio Valley Conference selection as a junior. The other guard is John Demarco, 175 pound junior. Ron Pollock (185) will start at center.

BEFORE the season got underway St. John's lost Jack Pompei, the regular quarterback from last season. He underwent a knee operation and was declared out for the campaign.

Along with Pompei Anastasio also lost John DeBlasis, another good running back.

The squad is experienced at all positions and the line is heavy with all veterans along the forward wall.

11 Teams Will Tee Off In Final Golfing Event

The final men's events of the 1962 golf season will be held Saturday beginning at 12:30 p. m. at the East Liverpool Country Club with 11 teams teeing off.

Five prizes will be offered and include for the best ball of two, best ball of four, closest to pin on No. 4 hole, closest to pin on No. 6 hole and a driving contest on No. 9 and No. 18 holes.

Teams and handicap strokes follow: Team 1—J. M. Wells, (5), W. T. Pomeroy (6), E. B. Rohrer (7) and D. D. Shay (13). Teams 2—Bill Hocking Jr. (5), Don Schreckengost (6), Bill McNutt (8) and Norman Nicely (9). Team 3—Bill Kelly (4), J. S. Probst (5), W. B. Cooper (9) and A. Purinton Jr. (15).

Missed Ball In Series

Cepeda Has Eye Trouble, Could Have Caused Slump

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, the San Francisco Giants' slugging first baseman, has eye trouble but the specialist who will examine him Monday says he doubts if the problem is anything as serious as a cataract.

Cepeda, a batting disappointment in the World Series with only three hits in 19 at-bats, revealed his concern over eye trouble Wednesday. The 1961 National League home run and runs batted in king said he thought the trouble might be a cataract in his right eye.

Cepeda said he first learned about the condition last week when he took a driver's test. "I couldn't see out of my right eye," he said. "Left eye, okay. Right eye bad. I went to a doctor who told me I may have a cataract. I am going back to the doctor for another examination before I go home to Puerto Rico."

Dr. George S. Campion, the ophthalmologist employed by the Giants, said a cataract condition in Cepeda's eye "without a previous injury or inflammatory condition would be highly unusual."

Admitting that he had not examined Cepeda since 1959, Dr. Campion said there is reasonable doubt Cepeda suffers from an ailment of a cataract nature.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants said "apparently, there is no cause for alarm. Such a condition would explain why he was missing the ball by six inches. If it is what Orlando says, minor surgery can be performed immediately."

Stoneham said Cepeda had been ordered to report to Dr. Campion Monday when the first baseman returns from a weekend trip.

Cepeda hit 46 home runs and drove in 142 runs for the Giants in 1961. He was hitting at a .352 clip in June this season when he began to tail off. He finished up at .306. During one month, he failed to hit even one homer.

"I was tired," said Cepeda, recalling the slump. He said he told Giants' trainer Ernie Bowman he thought his eyes were bad.

Ex-Notre Dame Coach

Liston Wants Frank Leahy For Manager, Paper States

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston of Philadelphia wants ex-Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy to be his manager, the Times-Picayune said in its final edition today.

In a bylined story by sports writer Buddy Diliberto, the newspaper quoted what he called a reliable source as saying: "Sonny has definitely made up his mind to change managers and his choice is Frank Leahy."

Liston, who won the heavyweight title last month from Floyd Patterson, is currently advised by Jack Nilon. His manager of record, George Katz is inactive. Katz' contract has one year to run.

Diliberto's story quoted the reliable source as explaining that Leahy is a close friend of the Rev. Edward P. Murphy of Denver, the priest who taught Liston how to read and write.

Liston and Leahy are known to have met in Portland, Ore., last Saturday at the Denny Moyer-Joe Giambra fight, which Liston refereed.

"Leahy told some people that he had seen Liston with regards to a film being made on Sonny's life," the source said.

"But later Liston told us that he was in the process of changing managers and that Leahy was his choice."

"Sonny said, 'A few things still have to be worked out, but it appears that Mr. Leahy will be my manager.'"

Leahy, 54, is a stock salesman and public relations man for an oil company. He now lives in San Diego, Calif. He resigned as Notre Dame coach Jan. 31, 1954. He first won national acclaim at Boston College in 1940 and a short time later signed to coach the Irish. His Notre Dame teams won national championships in 1943, 1946, 1947 and 1949.

Total For 1962 Hits 18

Football Deaths Continue To Rise With 2 Claimed

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Football fatalities continue to mushroom toward the 25-year peak total of 36 in 1961 with the deaths of two teen-age players in accidents connected with the contact sport, bringing the unofficial number for the 1962 season to 18.

The latest additions to the list of players who have died as a direct or indirect result of football injuries came within a 24-hour period Wednesday when the deaths of Mike Mallory, 17, and James Lucian Baudin, 18, were reported.

Mallory, a senior starting guard for Gallup, N.M., high school, apparently died of a head injury after collapsing on the practice field. Baudin, a freshman at Louisiana State University at Alexandria, suffered a skull fracture in an intramural touch football game.

Mallory's death was the 13th in high schools this year, Baudin's the second in sandlot play. Three collegians also have died. Last year, there were 21 high school deaths, 8 sandlot, 6 college and 1 semi pro.

Mike Kelsey, 20, Southern Methodist center, became the first college fatality on Sept. 2 when he died after an apparent heart stroke during the first practice session of the season for Southwest Conference teams.

Earl Hundley, 22, junior tackle at Georgetown College, and Reggie Grob, 19, sophomore guard for the University of Texas, keeled over within moments of leaving a practice session. Hundley's death later was attributed to meningitis.

The rise in the number of football fatalities has brought statements of concern from educators, doctors and parents alike. The main questions asked are what's being done and what's the principal cause.

University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal sat down after Grob's death and worked out a revised training program. He changed the training schedules to include water breaks and salt tablets every 30 minutes. Previously the squad had gone straight through a two-hour session.

Most of the football fatalities have occurred in practice sessions—only four have been attributable to actual competition. And in those four cases, two were sandlot accidents, where it is assumed inferior equipment was used. The main cause seems to be head injuries.

This week, Fritz Crisler NCAA Rules Committee chairman and University of Michigan athletic director, said that the latest blocking technique—blocking with the head and the hard plastic headgear—has increased head neck injuries by 82 per cent on all football levels.

Crisler offered two solutions:

"Either a piece of equipment must be found which will absorb the shock and prevent the whiplash which the player receives when hit by the head block, or we will have to pass legislation to outlaw blocking with the head."

Griffith, Fernandez Sign For Title Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Argentina's Jorge Fernandez has signed for a 15-round title bout against welterweight champion Emile Griffith in Las Vegas, Dec. 8.

Griffith, of New York City, has met and defeated Fernandez twice, by decisions, but the Argentine earned a title rematch, the Silver State Sports Club announced, by beating Charley Scott here Sept. 29.

Top Jockeys Set To Ride At Waterford

General Manager Harry R. Bell received word today that several of the country's leading riders will be in action at Waterford Park during the fall meeting which opens this Saturday, October 27.

Heading the long list of top saddies is Jesse Davidson fourth ranking jockey in this year's national standings, who will return here after an absence of one season.

Davidson wound up sixth in national ratings last year and took top honors at several meetings, including Waterford Park's fall session. So far this year he has amassed around 200 winners and is still going strong.

Other top riders coming from the Eastern Panhandle and Maryland are Charles Clark, who has ridden with much success at Waterford Park for several seasons; and Peter Brandt, a newcomer to the area; and Gus Pappas a veteran to all tracks in West Virginia.

Jockey Agent Dick Bell arrived with the sensational jockey Forrest Kaelin, who has been staging a ding-dong battle for high riding honors at Randall Park. He can be remembered locally as the leading apprentice rider at Wheeling Downs a few years ago.

Other jockeys checking in from the Cleveland area are Craig Nicholson, one of the leading riders in these parts for several years and Harold Acres, the boy who came back to ride successfully after having been hospitalized for over seven months after a bad spill at Charles Town.

Waterford Park's autumn season opens Saturday for 37 days, through Dec. 8 with a post time of 1:30 p. m. throughout the entire meeting. The daily double on the first and second races will be augmented by the "Perfecta" form of wagering on both the fifth and last races every day.

Yankees Earn $9,882 Per Share In Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Richardson's grab of a sinking line drive by Willie McCovey has to rank among the most expensive catches in major league baseball history. It was worth $120,850.44.

That's the difference in the player pool shares split up by the winning New York Yankees and the losing San Francisco Giants from the 1962 World Series.

The figures were announced Wednesday by Charles Segar, baseball secretary.

A full winning share for the Yankees amounted to $9,882.74 and a full share for the losing Giants came to a record $7,291.49. The Yankees voted 34 full shares and the Giants 29.

Richardson's grab of McCovey's liner ended the seventh game of the World Series, won by the Yankees 1-0. The tying run was on third and the winning run on second.

The Yankees' winning share is the third highest. The Los Angeles Dodgers got the most, $11,231.18 for a full share, after their victory over Chicago in 1959. The New York Giants got $11,147.90 each following their 1954 sweep of Cleveland.

The highest previous losing share was $7,275.17 by the White Sox in 1959.

The players pool this year amounted to $863,281.71. The Yankees received $362,578.32 and the Giants $241,718.88.

The Minnesota Twins and the Los Angeles Dodgers, runners-up in each league, got $64,746.32 and the third place Los Angeles Angels and Cincinnati Reds $43,164.80. The fourth place teams, Detroit and Pittsburgh, pick up $21,582.04.

Ohio U. Boosts Store Sales With Appearance In Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "A pound of baloney . . . a dozen eggs . . . two tickets on the 50-yard line . . ."

That kind of shopping list was not the exception this week for football fans who planned to watch Saturday's game here between the University of Buffalo and undefeated Ohio University.

The unusual shopping item came about when a super market chain bought 7,000 tickets to sell with the family staples. The remainder of the seats in the campus' 13,500-seat stadium are for university students and the season-ticket-holders.

With or without the promotion, the visiting Bobcats are an attraction. Their impressive 12 - 6 victory over Miami of Ohio Saturday reportedly boosted the store sales. Miami is the only team to defeat Purdue this season.

The Ohioans' starting line, which averages 223 pounds per man, outweighs the Bulls' first unit by about 17 pounds at each position.

The 'Cats joined the major college ranks in 1961, after capturing the small college championship in 1960. In their first season as a major football school, they posted a 5-3-1 record.

In Jim Mc Kee, the Bobcats have one of the nation's finest college placement specialists. Last week, he kicked two field goals, including one of 52 yards.

Scouting reports indicate that sophomore fullback Jack Hite, a 200-pounder, could be the strongest runner the Bulls have confronted this season, Buffalo coach Dick Offenhamer says.

Buffalo has won three of its five games in this, its first season among the majors. The triumphs have been over the come-from-behind route.

The series between the two universities stands 1-1.

Carry Back, Kelso Meet At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—A battle for U.S. horse of the year honors, with international overtones, is scheduled Saturday at Belmont Park when Kelso and Carry Back hook up in the $100,000-added Man O'War stakes.

Two of the best 3-year-olds in Europe add international flavor to the backyard squabble between Carry Back, a 4-year-old colt, and the 5-year-old Kelso.

Monade, a filly owned by Greek shipping magnate George Goulardis, and Marquise du Vivier's Val de Loir are the French invaders in the 1 1/2 mile race over the Widener grass course. Val de Loir won the French Derby, Monade the English Oaks.

In addition, George D. Widener's Jaipur, this country's best 3-year-old colt, will join the fray, along with Beau Purple, T.V. Lark and several of America's best grass course specialists.

Hobeau Farm's Beau Purple won last week's Hawthorne Gold Cup, and holds decisions over both Carry Back and Kelso. Preston Madden's T.V. Lark upset Kelso in last year's Washington D.C. International. Carry Back, 1961 Kentucky Derby winner, has beaten Kelso twice this season.

With 14 starters the purse will hit $116,800, the winner getting $75,920. The regular U.S. starting gate will be used. The French horses may start from the gate, or outside, as their trainers wish.

The migratory waterfowl season opened at noon last Wednesday, Oct. 17. The duck population seemed to be better than last year, with mallards and wood ducks being most prevalent. Mixed in were a goodly number of green-wing teal and coot.

Two Canadian geese were on Lake Guilford and two hunters in a green canoe were in pursuit. The geese swam to the bank and hid in the willows. The hunters were about in gun range when a fisherman in a motorboat passed the canoe and flushed the geese. That was just one of those things as the fishermen knew nothing about the geese being on the shore.

ABOUT ALL the swampy area extending from the retaining wall at Guilford for about two miles east has been leased by individuals. This is one area I would like to see come under ownership of the Ohio Division of Wildlife for the benefit of public hunting. Most of the land is either under water or submarginal and very little money would have to be spent by the state for development purposes, according to my way of thinking.

I would advise all duck hunters to take anything they shoot because the law states that all waterfowl killed counts in the bag limit. Also the law states that the hunter must make every effort to retrieve all waterfowl shot or crippled and failure to do so could draw a fine of $15 to $200 before a county judge.

For instance, you might shoot a coot or merganser and decide you did not want it so you might toss it aside. If you don't want this type of waterfowl, don't shoot it. As scarce as some species of waterfowl is becoming it is senseless to think of using unwanted species for target shooting. This is a good law.

ONE HUNTER told me he did not know one duck from another. He had two teal in possession when I approached him and was still banging away. Actually he had his limit in ducks and anyone who does not make an honest effort to identify one duck from another should get no sympathy from any game protector. One more duck killed and he would have received a citation.

You are allowed two ducks of combined species, although not more than one can be a mallard. In addition you are allowed six coot and two scaups (bluebills). Redheads and canvas backs none. Closed season this year. Learn about the law before you hunt so as not to receive an education in court. That's the expensive way.

It sounds as if I am acting as a reformer or some sort of a dictator to this duck and goose hunting situation, but I assure you my honest intentions are to keep the hunters out of trouble if possible and all I ask is cooperation. Feel free to call me at any time if you need information and I will do my best to help you keep out of trouble. Otherwise, let the chips fall where they may.

Let's keep hunting a sporting event, with no room for hunters who sometimes act as if fish and game are theirs regardless of the laws of conserving our natural resources. The time has come where that type of outdoor bandits must go.

Musial Easy Winner For NL Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan Musial, the seven-time National League batting champion who hit over .300 for the first time in four seasons, today was named the circuit's Comeback Player of the Year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Musial was selected by 31 of the 108 baseball writers participating in the balloting. Del Crandall of Milwaukee was second with 23 votes followed by Ed Rubeck, Los Angeles, 15, Bob Skinner of Pittsburgh 10 and Harvey Kuenn, San Francisco, 6.

Musial finished third in batting the past season with a .330 mark. He hit .255 in 1959, .275 in 1960 and .288 in 1961. His 1962 output included 143 hits, 19 of them homers, and 82 runs batted in. The 42-year-old outfielder also stole three bases.

Mississippi Leads

Big College Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—Only Dartmouth, Minnesota and Boston University kept the South from having the honor roll all to itself among the nation's major college defensive standings.

Mississippi leads the nation in total defense, according to figures released by the NCAA Service Bureau today. The South claims five of the next six places, broken only by fourth-place Dartmouth.

Dartmouth leads in defense against scoring, an average of 0.8 per game, Minnesota in rushing defense and Boston U. in passing defense. New Mexico holds the lead in punting with an average of 43.7 per kick.

Highlandtown Team, Children To Be Feted

Plans for a Halloween party for members of the Little League baseball team and children of the community were outlined by the Highlandtown volunteer firemen Wednesday night at the station. The party will be held Tuesday night at 7 at the station. Movies will be screened.

Robert Hays, president, conducted business. Sixteen were present. Bob Wilson and Bill Grodhause were accepted as new members. Dale Rose, secretary, said a "work night" was set for Friday at 6 p. m. to install a water line. Next meeting is Nov. 14.

Tiger Cubs To Tackle Willowick

Wellsville's Little League All-Stars tackle an undefeated opponent from Lake County in their second assignment Sunday afternoon at 2 at Nicholson Stadium.

The small-fry league has been operating two years and Commissioner Wayne Rose is hoping for a large following for Sunday's big battle with the Willowick Browns — apparently named after the National Football League entry in Cleveland.

In their first start Tuesday since organizing as an All-Star unit comprised of top players from each team in the league, the Tiger Cubs blanked Wellsburg's Colts, 10-0.

Coached by Floyd Andrews, Wellsville won behind a safety in the first period and a 65-yard touchdown run in the fourth by Frank Simms. Don Brewer carried over the conversion.

Willowick brings an impressive 5-0-1 record to Wellsville for Sunday afternoon's game.

The Browns have posted victories of 47-0, 27-14, 32-0, 40-0 and 40-0 over teams in their home city. They tied one opponent, 7-7. Wellsville's starting lineup, with weights in parenthesis, will include Mike Platt (91) at quarterback, Carl Thomas (102) or Frank Simms (110) at right half, Randy Dillard (80) or Steve Betz (89) at left half, and Don Brewer (115) at fullback.

On the line will be either E. Gibson (98) or Ed Zelasko (95) at center; Paul Siriani (114) and Mike Reed (83) at guards; Bill Brewer (105) and Bill Miller (101) at tackles, and Butch Weeda (114) and either Jim Hunter (112) or Paul Hood (114) at ends.

Heading Willowick's squad are Sam Schicandro (89) at quarterback and Larry Koeth (101) at a halfback, co-captains. Other backs will be John Lombardo (80) and Jack Getler (96).

The Browns' line will show Bob Smola (78) and Ken Adamonis (97) at ends, Ed Valsack (105) and Jim Arding (109) at guards; Mike Necci (105) and James Lovich (110) at tackles, and John Polgar (106) at center.

Willowick's coaches are Dick Wade and Bill Penza. Only four squadmen listed as starters are in their first year of competition, the others having played two, three and four years.

Penalties Cause Alarm In Southern Conference

By ED YOUNG

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The marching bands have played second fiddle to the marching officials in Southern Conference football lately as the upshot of a move to curb on-field roughness.

There has, in fact, been so much flag-dropping by the striped-shirt judges of football sin that even the conference commissioner, who suggested the crackdown, admits to alarm.

"I don't see how so many infractions could possibly happen. Maybe the officials are simply over-zealous," says Commissioner Lloyd Jordan. "Anyway, I'm sure everything will get back to normal soon."

Since Jordan sent what he calls a routine reminder to the officials a little more than two weeks ago, penalties totaling 1,052 yards have been assessed in only seven games on conference fields.

Last Saturday alone, three tilts produced 609 yards in penalties, and things reached a point of near-absurdity in the William and Mary-Furman game at Williamsburg, won by W&M 21-7.

In this stop-and-go affair, which lasted nearly three hours, the two teams gained 383 yards. They were penalized almost that many — 336. W&M alone incurred 30 penalties for a conference record 197 yards.

The commissioner says his "routine reminder" to the officials—signed also by W. B. Hackney, supervisor of officials—was intended to create an awareness of the dangers of piling-on.

But, he adds, "We expect our officials to be watchful and still show common sense. Football has to be a rough-tough game, and gang tackling is part of it."

Biery Retires From Post In Valley Group

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hudson Biery, "father" of the first federally-sanctioned grouping of states organized to grapple with a common problem — stream pollution—retiring after seven years as executive vice president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

Harry M. Mack, OVIA board chairman, in announcing Biery's plans, said no successor had been named.

The OVIA, with headquarters here, since 1895 has devoted itself to campaigning for water resource development within the Ohio Valley.

Even before coming out of retirement in 1953 to administer OVIA affairs, Biery was an ardent campaigner for water resources development.

In the early 1930s he began his efforts toward interesting individual states to join in his plan for a cleaner, clearer Ohio river.

"Pittsburgh's sewage — (or Wheeling's or Portsmouth's) — wherever they would listen, and Cincinnati's sewage, in turn, becomes Louisville's."

Finally, in 1948, Congress authorized the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and Virginia to band together to tackle the common problem.

Headquarters of the administrative agency, known as the Ohio Valley Water Sanitation Commission (ORSANCO) was established in Cincinnati, with Edward J. Cleary, then of New York, as chief engineer and directing head.

Biery was named one of two federally-appointed commissioners to represent the government in the commission's work. He has remained active since.

Florida A&M Holds Top Spot In Small College

By The Associated Press

Florida A&M strengthened its grip on first place in The Associated Press' weekly small college football poll today.

The all-conquering Rattlers walloped Bethune-Cookman 52-6 Saturday to make their record 4-0-0. As a result they received four first place votes from The AP's national panel of eight sports writers and a total of 73 points.

Northern Illinois (6-0-0) whipped Western Illinois 14-0 and moved up from a tie for third to second place, passing Fresno State. Fresno (4-1-0) trounced Los Angeles State 34-0 but dropped to third.

Behind Fresno came Southern Mississippi (5-1-0), Southeastern Louisiana (5-0-0), Central Oklahoma State (6-0-0), Wittenberg (5-0-0), Pittsburg, Kan. (4-2-0), Southern Illinois (3-2-0), and Lamar Tech (5-1-0).

Jim Brown Not Slipping, Coach Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' game Sunday against the Pittsburgh Steelers, always tough against Cleveland, is "sort of a neighborhood feud," says coach Paul Brown.

"If we can look like we did last week," the coach added, "we might get back in the thick of things."

Speaking before the Cleveland Advertising Club Wednesday, the coach indicated the Steelers may be out to avenge a pre-season loss at the hands of the Browns. "We may have made it a little tougher for ourselves by beating them in an exhibition game," he said.

Turning to individual Cleveland players, coach Brown said there is nothing wrong with fullback Jim Brown's legs. "He's the same runner he always has been."

"A few bumps and misfortunes and the hammers come out," said the coach, referring to some recent comments to the effect that his big fullback may be slipping. "It's just a question of getting the opportunities."

"Jim has been around pro football for a few years now, but remember he's only 26 years old."

United Nations Trot Set Tonight

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — It will be a quartet of foreign trotters against the top four of the United States tonight in the $60,000 United Nations trot at Yonkers Raceway.

Su Mac Lad, an 8-year-old driven by Stanley Dancer and owned by Irving W. Berkemeyer of New Milford, N.J., is the 8-5 favorite in the 1 1/4 mile race. The U.N. is the climax of a $150,000 series designed to name the world's top trotter.

France's Ozo won the $45,000 Transoceanic last week, beating seven foreign rivals. A week earlier, Su Mac Lad triumphed in the $45,000 Gotham Trot. Both preliminaries were at 1 1/4 miles.

The first four in each race qualified for the United Nations. Ozo, owned by Alfred Gillain Jr. of France and driven by Gerhard Kruger is third choice at 9-2. Second choice at 7-2 is Duke Rodney, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Di Gennaro of Rochester, N.Y.

The field, with post positions, drivers and probable odds:

1. Juliette, Sweden, Soren Nordin, 12-1; 2. Su Mac Lad, USA, Stanley Dancer, 8-5; 3. Ozo, France, Gerhard Kruger, 9-2; 4. Tie Silk, Canada, Keith Waples, 8-1; 5. Ravioli, Belgium, Walter Martens, 15-1; 6. Porterhouse, USA, Earle Avery, 6-1; 7. Elaine Rodney, USA, Clint Hodgins, 15-1; 8. Duke Rodney, USA, William Houghton, 7-1.

Chester Park Group Purchases Equipment

Purchase of kitchen equipment and a gas furnace for the Chester City Park community building was approved at a meeting of the Park Commission Wednesday night.

The group authorized purchase of the equipment and furnace of the former Weaver Restaurant at a cost of $375.

Plans were completed for a benefit double-header football game Monday night at 6 at the park. Harold Dickey, chairman, presided. Next meeting is Nov. 14.

The San Francisco Giants beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 11 times in 21 meetings in 1962. The deciding game of the "series" also decided the National League pennant playoff.

Water Scalds Newell Child

A Newell child scalded by hot water and a Hammondsville area woman hurt in a fall at home were admitted Wednesday to City Hospital where four other area residents were treated after separate mishaps and released.

Bruce Pierce, 1½, son of Robert Pierce of 6th St., Newell, is in "satisfactory" condition with scalds of the body, arms and legs received when he fell into a bucket of hot water.

Mrs. Viola Vashinder of Hammondsville R. D. 1 is in "fair" condition with a possible fracture of the left leg suffered in a fall on a wet floor at home.

Michael Anthony, 9, son of Roy Anthony, 201 W. 3rd St., was treated last night for abrasions of the forehead received in a fall at home.

In a fall in a bathtub, John Wolfe, 4, son of Norman Wolfe of Monaca St., suffered a cut of the scalp.

Penny Willey, 2, daughter of Abe Willey of New Cumberland R. D. 2, received a cut of the forehead in a fall down steps at home.

Emmett Freeland, 56, of Newell suffered a rib injury when a car slipped from a jack against him.

Midland School Fund Donation $49 Higher

Despite the fact that fewer personnel are employed in Midland public schools this year, the United Fund contributions are $49 higher than last year, Supt. Ralph H. Jewell announced.

This year's total of $740 includes library and administration employees, $88; 1st St. School, $86; 4th St. School, $158; 7th St. School, $59, and Lincoln High School, $349.50.

Among the professional employees, totaling 63, there was a per capita donation of $10.56 and for the 17 non-professional employees, $3.95 per capita.

Columbus Man To Speak

Salute To Industry Set At Dinner Of Chamber

Thomas R. Johnson of Columbus, who will speak to the Chamber of Commerce at its fall membership meeting Tuesday night, has served since December 1961 as executive director of the Ohio Manufacturers Association.

Johnson's talk on the meeting's theme, "A Salute to Industry," will follow a 6:30 buffet dinner at the Country Club. It is one of the highlights of an Industry Appreciation Week observance that will get under way Monday, arranged jointly by the Chamber and the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

Before becoming head of the organization, Johnson served 10 years as assistant director of OMA. A native of Columbus, he was educated in Columbus schools. He was graduated from Ohio State University in 1947 with a major in business administration.

Johnson worked two years as a field secretary for the Ohio State Alumni Association and two years with the Ohio Home Builders Association before joining OMA in 1952.

Johnson's appearance was arranged through Malcolm W

THOMAS R. JOHNSON
Manufacturers' Executive.

Thompson, chairman of the board of the Hall China Co. and immediate past president of the manufacturers' organization.

2 Defendants Get Probation

Two defendants involved in East Liverpool crimes were placed on five years probation at hearings Wednesday before Common Pleas Judges Joel H. Sharp and Raymond S. Buzzard at Lisbon.

Abraham Ray Cisco, 29, recently released from Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh, had pleaded guilty to the 1955 armed robbery at Wilson's Golden Dawn Market in East End.

Cisco served seven years for armed robbery in Pennsylvania and is on parole from Western Pen. He was indicted by the September Grand Jury and requested probation, which Judge Buzzard granted.

Thomas Henry Lawrence, 21, of Lisbon R. D. 3 has pleaded guilty to auto theft March 11, burglary Jan. 6 and March 11 at the Caplan scrap yard and stealing $1,000 worth of scrap, and burglary of the DAV Club at West Point April 15.

He was indicted by the recalled April Grand Jury.

Terms of his probation forbid him from driving a car unless in his work and that he make restitution for the scrap he sold in Pittsburgh. Judge Sharp authorized his probation.

Crucible Names Supervisory Aide

Everett E. Cox of Beaver has been appointed assistant division superintendent, bar mills and bar finishing division, at the Crucible Steel Co.'s Midland Works. He was staff assistant.

Cox came to Midland in 1953 as production supervisor with Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc. When Crucible acquired full control of this company in 1957, he was named melting supervisor of the Titanium Division. He was named superintendent of production in 1958 and division superintendent in 1959. For a few months in 1961, he served as chairman of a special committee at the plant and in the same year was appointed staff assistant.

Cox is a member of the Research Institute of America and American Society of Abrasives.

New Police Cruisers Arrive From Factory

Two new Plymouth sedans destined for use as police cruisers were delivered today to Central Service, Inc., from the factory, but two or three days will be required for installation of equipment before they are turned over to the city, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen was advised.

Jack Young, sales manager of the W. 7th St. auto agency, advised the director of delivery of the Plymouth "Patrollers," autos especially built for police work.

Central Service was given a $4,500 contract for the two cars on the basis of bids opened in early August by Owen and Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, comprising the Board of Control.

Youth Tries U-Turn, Car Hits Embankment

LISBON — An 18-year-old Columbiana youth whose car rammed an embankment after he tried to make a U-turn on Route 7 just north of Rogers Wednesday was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Officers said Victor Haverstein was headed north on the Rogers Hill when he decided to turn. There was insufficient room on the highway, and the car hit the left embankment about 10:05 p.m. He was charged with making an improper turn.

Children's Party Set By Firemen

The Liverpool Township East volunteer firemen will hold a Halloween party for children of the township tonight at 7 at the Dixonville station.

Plans for the party were outlined at a meeting of the firemen Wednesday night. Jack Conley, president, presided. Fifteen attended.

Dave Bahen reported on the fire school held at Midland. A report was heard on the masquerade dance held Tuesday night at the station.

Plans were made to attend the Tri-State Firemen's Association meeting Monday night at Wellsville.

The firemen will meet Wednesday night at 7, according to John Laitsch, secretary.

Harvest Scheduled For Test Plots Corn

LISBON — The Columbiana County extension service corn variety test plots on the Firestone Farm, just east of Columbiana on Route 14, will be harvested Wednesday, according to Donald Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Forty-five varieties are in the test, including three dwarf and five single cross varieties. These varieties will be checked for insect and disease damage as well as for yield.

Lewis Saboe, agronomist at Ohio State University, will answer questions concerning the variety check and W. E. Gill, OSU agriculture engineer, will check ear loss and picker loss as well as discussing picker adjustments.

Interested persons may attend any time during the day and see the different varieties harvested. Myers said.

Junior Editors Quiz on YOU

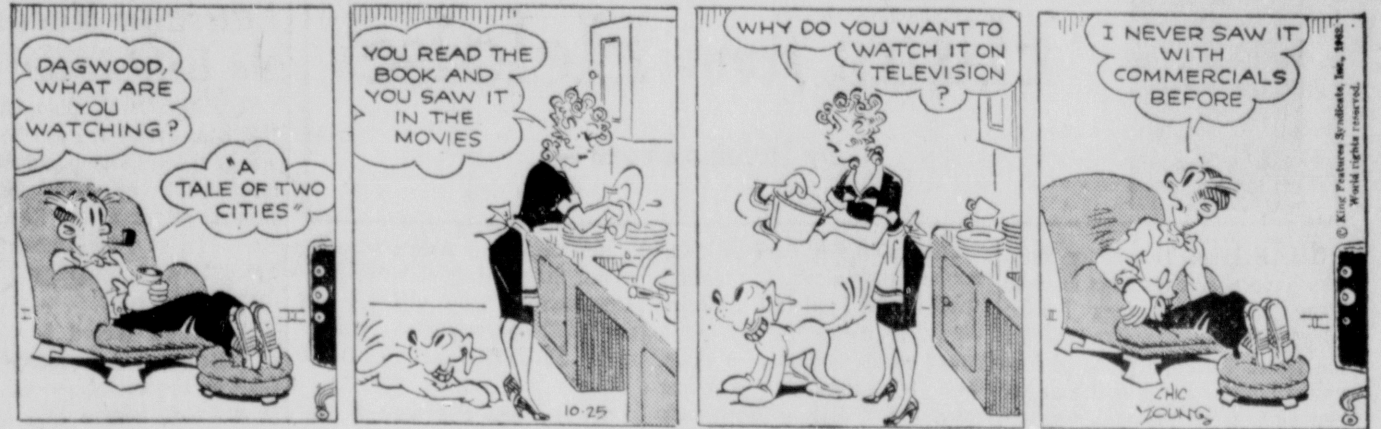

QUESTION: Why do we blush when we are embarrassed?

ANSWER: Our bodies are criss-crossed with an enormous number of very tiny tubes called capillaries. The blood passes through them, and delivers oxygen through the capillary walls, taking waste in exchange. There are nerves, something like electric wires, connecting capillaries to the brain. These can cause the capillaries to expand so that they are suddenly filled with more blood. This is what happens when you blush; blood is suddenly rushing into your capillaries, making your face look red. Our bodies are wonderfully arranged to take care of sudden emergencies. One of the ways help is given to us is to have more blood than usual pumped through our bodies. If you are in great danger, for instance, your heart will beat fast, providing you with more oxygen than usual. This gives us quick power so that we can think and move fast in order to get out of danger. In the same way, more blood helps us to get out of embarrassing situations. How is this fresh blood going to help Jane in our picture? It can't give her the answer she is hunting for, but by making her brain go faster it will suggest that she should prepare more carefully for her lessons next time.

FOR YOU TO DO: If something has happened to make a person embarrassed, don't make it worse by going on talking about it. The polite thing is to change the subject.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make a thickening for soup?

A. You can make a thickening with tapioca. Boil the tapioca until clear, and then strain the liquid into the soup.

Q. Please suggest a good way to press a pair of men's unwashable trousers.

A. One good, safe way is to cover the trousers with newspaper and use your iron on top of this. In this way, there's no need to wait for the trousers to dry because they haven't really been steamed.

Q. How can I remove odors from my kitchen?

A. If your kitchen is not provided with a regular wall or window ventilator, place an electric fan in front of an open window, pointing it of course, towards the outside -- and this will help wonderfully in shooting the odors to the outdoors.

Q. How can I repair a rug whose edges have frayed?

A. With some fine twine, using a buttonhole stitch. When you have finished, color the twine with crayons in shades that blend with the rug pattern, and press with a hot iron. This usually makes a neat finish, and the rug will be serviceable for a long time.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: This is for those who have chairs or sofas in their home and the springs have "dropped" and are about to hit the floor. Turn the piece of furniture upside down! Make a paper pattern of the under structure frame; go to any lumber yard and buy a piece of scrap masonite and nail this to the underside of the chair.

In the olden days people put what we call a templar on the bottoms of their chairs. This is what I am trying to get across.

Spring which are sagging and those which have broken webbing usually can be repaired by the masonite or even one-eighth inch plywood. Just nail it on the bottom of the furniture. Now let me tell you what this does! As long as I have been in the furniture repair business I have never seen a spring that actually has been broken.

What people pay for is retying the springs and rewebbing of the bottom of the chair. By nailing a piece of plywood or masonite on the bottom of the chair, it pushes the springs back up in to the chair and one can easily get at least five more years of wear out of that piece of furniture.

The springs will behave properly! This idea is for people who want to "make do" with furniture which should be done over.

This was the hardest thing for me to believe... until I tried it! All I did (after turning the chair over) was to put a paper on the bottom of a chair, take my fingernail and go around the edge of the chair bottom to get a perfect pattern.

I then took my scissors and cut the paper off one-fourth of an inch so the plywood would not show when nailed on. My lumber yard took the paper pattern and sawed a piece of one-eighth inch plywood to fit. I took an old hammer and a few nails that I found in the tool box and hammered the plywood on the bottom. Immediately the springs rejuvenated themselves.

The chair I repaired this way now looks like a new chair with no sagging springs or bottom falling out. But best of all, it cost next to nothing, which is far less than having a chair's springs retied and rewebbed.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: This is a rather complaint needing an answer!

At dinner each night I (being master of the house — so I think) have the job of trying to make four children eat a balanced meal. Especially since my wife worked to prepare it.

They always say that they have had a snack when they got home from school and are not hungry.

Just what is a parent supposed to do? Starve their children in the afternoon so they will eat dinner? Will appreciate any answer.

FRUSTRATED HUSBAND

If any one has solved this one... or has anything in mind that might suffice... write to Heloise, in care of The Review. Men have their troubles too, eh?

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: The best cookie pans I have found are the aluminum foil ones which frozen foods come in. Cookies are done in almost no time and the pans require no greasing and are easily cleaned afterwards.

MARY STUBBS

1-14 — SWEATERS IN WASHER

DEAR HELOISE: I wash my sweaters in the washing machine and use regular household detergent. This does not pertain to wool sweaters.

I then take two dry bath towels and put in my dryer along with the sweater. I use old bath towels for this. Be sure to keep your dryer on low.

When the sweater is turned wrong side out it will prevent knots from forming because the towels will act as a buffer against the machine as the sweaters tumble.

Briley Attacks Lausche Record As Legislator

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche's record as a legislator again was the focal point of John Marshall Briley's attack as the Republican candidate for Lausche's job brought his campaign to the Youngstown area.

"Lausche's record is virtually nil," Briley said Wednesday. The GOP candidate for the Ohio seat in the U.S. Senate said he was willing to forget about what he termed Lausche's "do-nothing" first four years in the Senate, which he called the "learning-the-ropes period."

But "in the last two years Sen. Lausche drew pay checks amounting to $45,000. In addition, his office operations and salaries for personnel cost about $200,000."

"For that amount he has sponsored only one piece of legislation that was enacted into law. It was a private bill to permit an insurance society to change its rules," Briley said.

Sentencing Deferred In Mail Theft Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti has deferred sentence pending a probation report on Herman R. Martin, a Post Office clerk convicted of taking money from Office.

Judge Battisti, who heard the case without a jury, found Martin guilty Wednesday.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gerald J. Celebrezze presented evidence that Martin was seen taking two letters from the mail assigned to him for sorting. One letter contained $7, the others $9, Celebrezze said.

Man Transferred To Cleveland In Checks Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gary Lee Mogg, 22, of Youngstown, described by police as the mastermind of a statewide ring that forged $250,000 in stolen checks, has been transferred to a Cleveland jail.

Mogg was brought here Wednesday night from Struthers, a Youngstown suburb. Police said he waived extradition in Sharon, Pa., where he was arrested Monday, thinking he was going to face robbery charges in Struthers.

However, Cleveland detectives arranged with Struthers police for his transfer here.

Mogg's operation was termed "the largest in recent years" by Cleveland Police Inspector Thomas A. Murphy.

Murphy said the ring passed $27,000 in bad checks in Toledo and $28,000 in Cleveland. Mogg operated also in Canton and Akron, he said.

Mogg was released on bond in August in forgery cases in Cleveland, Youngstown and Akron. Those cases have yet to be tried.

Five of Mogg's gang in Cleveland also have been charged, police reported.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Posture Provides 'Stay Young' Knack

When an actress of fifty has to deliberately "age" her posture in order to play the part of a middle-aged woman convincingly, this certainly proves that, on the age score, posture is more revealing than birthdays.

Our star is Rosalind Russell and the picture is "A Majority of One." In real life Miss Russell has an air of elegance and a going-places posture. Her rule is "keep your back straight and your head up."

To look the part for the role, our actress rounded her upper back from the shoulders which thrust her head slightly forward. She changed from slender to stodgy by settling through the middle measurement. With these posture changes Miss Russell "aged" 20 years.

THERE YOU have it. The area of the body that shows age first, and needlessly, is right behind the shoulders. Alas, long before 40, the spine can begin to bend forward from the shoulder blades. The head, being heavy, pulls forward, and that's the start of the dowager's hump — a dead give-away for age.

To wake up to what is going on right behind your back, try this revealing test: Sit sideways to a mirror in your habitual posture. If the way you naturally sit encourages a forward position of your head, neck and shoulders, you're on the way to a rounded upper back.

The beautiful way to carry your head is squarely on your shoulders, with that line at the back of the neck almost straight, and your chin level. Imagine you are wearing a Spanish comb at the back of your head and push against it. Elegant head carriage is the best exercise ever for keeping the chinline young.

At ease. Keep shoulders relaxed. Elevating the shoulders leads to tension. Lift with the top of your head, but not with your shoulders.

Keep in mind only one posture rule — up. Start the up-lift with the lower abdominal muscles. The streamlining technique is to lift your weight by pulling up and in firmly with the middle muscles.

At the same time contract slightly with the big hip muscles. This centers the lift through the middle of the figure, puts you in perfect balance and the fore and aft bulge disappears. The waist slims up too, for with the lift through the middle, the ribcage is elevated and the chest raised to normal high position.

THE SECRET is to make the middle muscles take the action and literally lift your figure. It's surprising, the feeling of buoyancy and balance which follows.

In elegant posture you will look pounds slimmer and years younger.

DiSalle Declares Traffic Safety Record Improved

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, campaigning in the Dayton area from noon until late at night Wednesday, emphasized what he termed an improved traffic safety record in the state during his administration.

He said the record is graphic proof of what can be done when various state agencies cooperate in solving a problem.

The Highway Safety Department and Highway Department have teamed to cut down the traffic death toll, DiSalle noted. He said safety got high priority early in his administration and the 1961 record of the lowest Ohio traffic death toll in 25 years, excluding travel-curtailed World War II years, was "the result of long planning and a lot of hard and careful work."

Mother, 19, Charged In Daughter Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 19-year-old mother has been charged with second-degree murder in the death of her 8-month-old daughter.

Police said Diane Bohan, who has been released on $1,000 bond, first told them the baby, Barbara, was hurt in an accidental fall Wednesday.

But under questioning, officers said, Mrs. Bohan admitted she dropped or threw the child to the floor.

Police said Mrs. Bohan told them she did nothing for about an hour after the child was hurt. When her husband, Buddy, arrived at their South Side home, police quoted her as saying, she finally took Barbara to Children's Hospital.

The baby was dead on arrival with a fractured skull.

The name of Armistice Day was changed to Veterans Day in 1954.
